9 20 1. King Charles was in Dublin proclaymed Kinge.

10 20 1. Sir Thomas Stafford arrived at yoghall in seruice tyme bringing the vnwelcom tydings of King James his decease, and the Joifull newes of the peaceable receaving and proclayming of Kinge Charles, whome o^r god I beseech ever to bless prosper & defend: vppon notice of which great accident and alteracon of state & governmt, I presently had the portes of o^r town shutt vp, and them and all waies and all passadges by Land & water stopped & well guarded, & with my own hand wrott severall letters to all the principall councillors and gent. of quallety, as also to the cheef officers of every cyttie and town in Mounster, and to the sheriffes of every county advertizing them of this heavie, and Joyfull worck of god, and at a private postern gate soe reddely put out and dispatcht my messengers, as in every place they brought the first newes therof: wherby all places were made secure and guarded, before any notice, or Rumor coulde disturbe them.

11. There happily arrived 600 new soldiers at yoghall, which as the Lords & others of the councill of warres directed me, I did see mustered, apparalled, armed, and delivered over to their severall comaunders, and after they had been 3 daies gratis refresshed and billitted on the town, they were by me according [to] my lo deputies warrants sent away to their severall garrezons : Sir Thomas Staffords 25 horse onely appointed for yoghall.

12. Till this daie I expected advertizements and directions in this great alteracon, from the Lo Deputy and state, but receaving neither letters nor any notice from thence to confirme the newes, & having howrly notice of the conventicles and assemblies of the natives and Recusants, I posted an express messenger to my Lo Deputy geving him & the counsell an accompt of my proceedings and craving proclamaçon.

19. This daie as I was at dynner I received letters of the xjth of this moneths dates, from the Lo deputy and Councell, brought me to Lismoor by an ordenary footman called Teage Connaie, with the proclamacons to proclaym King charles, whervppon I presently forsook my dynner, and immediately wrott my letters, and in every of them inclosed 3 proclamacons, of each kynd one, and posted them all awaie by severall messengers at my own chardges : soe as they were all dispatched in 2 howrs to thearle of Thomond, the Lo Justice Sarsfeild, Sir Richard Aldworth, and to all the maiors, sheriffes and cheef officers of every cyttie, county, and corporate town in Mounster. And that day his Ma^{ty} was most solempnly and Joyfully [proclaimed] that night in yoghall, Tallagh and Lismoor ; and at Lismoor I was personally present, and we all dranck King Charles his health on our knees.

14.  M^r walley paid M^r Bogard for Richard Blacknoll and Henry wright 50^{li}, which is the last payment, and makes vp the full thowsand pownds that according [to] the new covenants I was to add to my former stock to make it vp 3000^{li} the 25 of March 1625 ; which thowsand pownds is an addicōn to my stock I haue now fully paid them, as I covenanted : as also 150^{li} for the nayle house and slytting mill neer my Ironworcks.

18. I bought a gelding of M^r gale for xj^{li} ster, which I bestowed on Sir Thomas Stafford : but he did not lyke him & therfore I gaue him a better.

21 ~~20~~. I bought of M^r Thomas Ball of London 3 severall leases that he had from the corporacōn of yoghall of certen tene[me]nts belonging to the chawntrie of that town, of certen tene[me]nts and backsides in yoghall, wherof part is vsd for the stoar howse to laie my yron in ; ffor [which] leases I paid ffrances Bennett by his direction, & to his vse xxx^{li} ster : the town having promised to make me a ffearm, or long lease therof at the former Rents.

23. given my daughter Sara 25^{li} for her quarters allowance ended at o^r Lady [day] at C.^{li} ster : per annum.

28. paid M^r Bogard 50^{li} in part of 150^{li} ster : that I covenanted to paie vnto Richard Blacknoll & Henry wright on St James his day next for their chardges in bwylding the new Naylhowse & slytting mill ; more the xij of May other 50^{li}, more the 19 of May 50^{li}.

29. I paid Roger canow [carew ?] one C.^{li} : he lent Leeftenant Mason xxx^{li} heerof 270^{li} to thironworcks, for which I gaue my bill ; which on my payment was canceld, and he & I cleer : but leeftenant Mason still owes me the 30^{li}.

30. Sent my tennant Henry Randall for a moneth v^{li} xv^s. I signed & sealed to M^r W^m crowe of dublin & delivered it to M^r Thomas Marten thattorney a lease of Knockmore in the county of Sligo for xxxj yeares at vj^{li} per annum, M^r Marten to bring me his counterpart perfected.

But tom Moores Rent was not of the proceed of my Iron, so as the moneis Lent that was receaved for yron is but 653^{li}. 653^{li}.

14. I began to provide sea cole to serve my fforgemen for their howse ffiringe, and bought 66 barrels, which at yoghall coste 17^d the barrell : x^s Lighteradge, and money to lade and vnlade them : But the water measure at yoghall is great.

14. I departed Lismoor, and laie at Corck ; the 15 to thasizes at Bandonbridge, and retorned home the 19th.

23. My servant Thomas ffarmer sickened, and died about ffive in the morning of the 25th, and the same evening was decently buried in the chancell of Lismoor ; M^r Read preached, My Lady ffenton, my wife, myself, the Lady cleyton, and divers others present.

25. Thearle of Thomond being with his Lady and children ready at waterforde to take shipping for England, sent me as his ffathers legacie, an aged, lardg black mare and a yonge gray gelding of 3 yeares and thadvantag ; I gaue M^r Baskerfeild a peec, & the groomes a crown.

25 20. I concluded the differences between M^r Emaunell Read my curate of Tallagh and Thomas Taylor of the same, who had paid for the vickar chorals xiiij^{li} for their tithes of Tallagh (to which they had no right), and I ordered M^r Read should make Taylor a lease for 3 yeares begynning at all S^{ts} next for xxx^{li} ster a year to be paid quarterly, and out of the first rent due abate M^r Taylor x^{li}, in satisfacon of all the vickars chorals had receaved of him, whose bonds he now delivered vp and were in my view canceled, and M^r Read is to enioy the offerings and book money and all other duties of church & churchyard; and I am by my promise to confirme the Lease.

25. Sir Addam Loftus and his brother Nicholas came [to] Lismoor, and brought hether Arthure Loftus, and departed with my daughter dorrothy & the ffrench woman the 7 of September towards Rathfernham: god bless her there.

September 1626.

2 20. My noble frend Sir Edward villiers, Knight, Lo president of Mownster, sickned this day at yoghall, and died there the vijth of this moneth about 4 of the clock in the morning, and was buried in my newe chapple the viijth in the evening, I attending his death and ffvnerals.

18 20. James ffitz morris gerald of Incheleamy having (with more his wife, and Sir darby o quynlan preest) mortgaged the castle and lands of M^ocollop and Ballyneroone rout 2 ploughlands to Sir Edmond ffitz John gerrald for 256^{li} ster:; and Sir John ffitz Edmond gerald his son & heir having receaved that money from me, and other xx^{li} ster: for the year after redempcon, assigned his estate in the same to my vse in truste to my brother in Law Sir Richard Smyth. And this day for x^{li} ster: in 20 money paid the said James, and my bill for 190^{li} ster : given him, to be paid when he and Sir darby o quynlan shall pass and perfect vnto me an indefecible estate in ffee of the said castle and Landes of Mocollop and Ballyneroon, and of all such other townes, villadges, hamletts, Lands, tenem's and hereditaments as the said James hath formerly conveyed, or intended to be by him conveyed either to me, or to the use of me and my heires, and delivered up to me all thanciente deeds & wrytings concerning them, and not before, I am by my bill to pay him the said 190^{li} ster. In the mean tyme, this day James hath made and perfected to Sir Richard Smyth a Release of all condicons, redemptions, and demaunds to Mocollop and Ballyneroon : And also perfected another deed to him of Incheleamy, to the use of me and my heires, if James & More die without heires males of the boddy of the said James lafully begotten, ffor which possibilletie 14 yeares since I paid him cxx^{li} ster : and made him a lease of Ballylovane for v^{li} per annum, when at that tyme I was offered xxxv^{li} ster a year for the same, soe as I haue had but xx^s ster a year for my 120^{li} out of Incheleamy those xiiij yeares ; I haue loste all this tyme xxx^{li} a year that I might haue had owt of bally Lovane. And if James should haue heires males I loose my Rent during his lyfe, and my cxx^{li} for ever, and this is the trueth of my proffitable bargayn made with him. Mocollop.

17. James ffitz morris gerald of Incheleamy being at my howse at Lismoor at Supper, did in the presence of my self, my wife, children and ffamily, as also in the heering of Sir Richard Smyth, Mr Barker serveigher of the Court of wardes, Hodge, power, 20 W^m Barber & others freely acknowledg himself to be full 57 yeares of age the last Xtmas ; which proves he was of full age when he made the leases in Revercon after his mother Ellis Butlers death, to Gwy Twose of Ballyregan, Ballylevan, Whites-town, Brydane, as also of the two plowlands of the Breads which M^r Towse solde to me.

20. I rodd to Corke to be present at thenquiry before the Comissioners for the Lands holden by the Lo. Barries freeholders.

December 1626.

1. My lo chancellor vpon the heering in chancery of the cawses between me and Sir W^m power, would haue exai[mn]ed peers power to prove that Sir W^m before thearle of Thomond, Sir Edward ffitz Harris & Sir Thomas Brown had published their adward, had wayved his submission to their order, which for that it was not insisted vpon neither in the pleadings, nor in the proof, I gaue reasons not to haue exai[mn]ed on that pointe which was not in the books. But the same vnreasonable mocon [motion] being revived by Serieant Brereton, the lo. chancellor said, I would examen him to enforme my conscienc, but the PERVERSNES of this Earle of Corke will not give way therunto. whervnto I answering, that my carriadge deserved no such disgracefull language, neyther would I endure it: His Lo^p Replyed, do you grumble, and in open court where I attended Justice at his hands? he gaue me other affronts and stormes, of which I haue complayned to the kings Ma^{ty} and to the Lo Deputy.

20 14. I and my lo Barry departed Dublin and lay at Sir W^m cealies [Seely], the 15 we came to geshill, 16 and 17 we continewed there, the 18 the Lady of ophaly and her two daughters & the Lord Digby and we lay at M^r wardes in Leix: The 19 we lodged at thearle of Londonderries at Bally-nekill, staid there by great ffloods: the 20th we laie at M^r david Roothes at Kilkenney: the 21 at Clonmell, and the 22th god be praised we all cam safely home to Lismoor.

My cozen Stockdale, at uxbridge, sent Arthure loftus 50^{li}, which with 50^{li} at my request he formerly lent him, makes one C.^{li} : this C.^{li} Sir Addam loftus delivered Sir W^m parsons, in whose hands it remayns, and is by me vndertaken to be speedely sent over to my cozen Stockdale, except Sir ffrances willoghby, to whome I haue written, pay it him in London : which if he doe, then am I to paie it Sir ffrances in Ireland.

19. M^r Samuell forttee at Uxbridg cam to a conclusion with me, whervppon I wrott to M^r walley and delivered him my lettres that the C. tons of yron deliverable at Mydsomer laste (the delivery wherof I had countermaunded) should now be laden aboard M^r Latfewrs ship, and M^r fforttee gaue me his bill for the payment of 1050^{li} the 6 of January next ; which bill I left with my cozen Th^o Stockdale. Having destined that 1050^{li} to be paid to the dutchess of Lennox in part of the first payment of 3600^{li} that I haue covenanted to pay her for the wardship of thearle of Kildare.

19. I abated M^r ffortry out of the 1150^{li} he was to pay me the 6 of January one C.^{li} that, vnknown to me, he had lent my wife.

19. I departed uxbridg, and lay that night and till the Monday following at my vncle docter westons in oxford.

17 20. I sent by Badnedg (as my laste gratuety to Sir Robert Heath, his Ma^{ts} attorney) one C.^{li}, which makes CCC.^{li} given vnto him for his favor & fees in passinge my pattents for my lands and yron.

24. I cam to an vnhappy accompt at oxford with that slie W^m Britton, my steward, and paid him at my departure from Newington on accompt first C.^{li}, then 20^{li}, and now at Oxenford for M^r Spence, the vpholster[er], for bedding, he took up of him xix^{li}, and for the cleering of all other his disbursements & demaunds xi^{li} in the wood I left at North Hall, and in ready money Cijj^{li}. viij^s. & xi^d, in all ccxliij^{li}. viij^s. & xi^d; god forgive him the wronge he did me in his accompts.

21. I receaved my dispatch from the L. of dorchester at the court of woodstock, and gave his 2 secretaries v^{li} a peec, in all x^{li}.

25. I depart[ed] from oxford, & gaue my son Richard x^{li}, to docter westons servants 5^{li}, to my daughter Saraes childe nvrse xx^s, to docter Iles & docter peers their children xx^s, and lay that night at Banbury.

26 & 27. I lay at the Countess of Leycesters, & gave v^{li} to the servants; the 28 at coventry; the 29 at Stone; the 30 at westchester; and continewed there till that day sevenight, being the 5 of September, 1629, and that day we removed to Lewenny, xvij myles from westchester, being Sir Henry Salisburies howse, where we were very kyndly enterteigned 3 nights: The 8 we departed thence, & lay that night at Abbeiconway, and came the 9th to Bowmarr[is] [torn off].

9. This day I cam to Bowmarris, and the 14 I sent my lettres to Capⁿ Rice by the poste of Bowmarris, who retorned my lettres after they had been at dawpool in chesterwater, and that capⁿ Rice with the Kings ship, called the ixth whelp, had sett saile towards Bowmarris to take me in there, but the wynde not serving he retorned vnto dawpool, so I continewed at Bowmarris in expectacon of the wynde & the Kings shipp vntill the laste of September, & then went aboard, but the wynde altering, we were driven to goe on Shoar again. And the next day, being the firste of october, 1629, god sent vs a faier wynde, and we had a safe & happie passadge, & arrived at the Rings end, neer dublin, on ffrydaie, about ten of the clock in the fforenoon, in safety: God be ever praised therfore, and for all other his blessings & mercies.

Me: I gaue a gelding called bay downyng to Sir Henry Lea, and he gaue me to carry one of my men to the sea syde, a mowse coloured ambling negg, which at westchester I bestowed on my chaplen, M^r Stephen Jerrom.

Me: also I left at my departure from Newington green all my wrytings Concerning the Lo Beaumont, Sir W^m power & Sir Henry Bowchier, their book of articles exhibited to his Ma^{ty} against me, & Sir W^m Lovelace, of canterbury, his bond for the 20 20^{li} I lent him, with my cozen peeter Nayler of New In, and appointed him to receav that xx^{li} and to paie it to M^r Monday, the Herald, dwelling in Aldersgatestreet, for gilding and putting into colowrs the Tombes I buylt in preston church, neer ffeversham, over my ffather & mother. But Sir W^m Lovelace dying before repayment, my bond remaynes with thother wrytings in the hands of my said cozen peeter Nayler, and the xx^{li} is by my order paid M^r Mondaie by M^r phillip Burlymachie.

NOTES AND ILLUSTRATIONS.

- Page 1. 'Sir Barnard Greenvile Knight'—See full Memoir of the "great Earl," as before, for notices of the Grenvilles along with others whose estates he purchased. This, once for all in reference to unannotated names.
- „ 1. 'Melloon power ffitz John'—Query: Can this person have been Pierce, second son of John le Poer, Lord le Poer, of Killowen, co. Waterford, who married Honora, daughter of John, Lord Brittas (Burke's "Extinct Peerage," p. 443). As in Scotland, so in Ireland at this period, the lord of a place was sometimes called by the name of the place. "Killowen" may be the word intended by Melloon.
- „ 1. 'Sir Barnaby Brien'—He was second son of Donatus, fourth Earl of Thomond; and he succeeded his brother Henry, the fifth Earl, in the title and estates. He was knighted by King James I., 21 July, 1615. He married Mary, daughter of Sir James Fermer, or Farmer, of Easton Neston, Northants, and had a son Henry, who became seventh Earl of Thomond.

- Page 2. ' Lo: Moor ' = Sir Garret Moore, Knight, of Mellifont, M.P. for Dungarvan in 1613, created Baron Moore of Mellifont, 20 July, 1616, and Viscount Moore of Drogheda, 7 February, 1621-2. From him descends the Marquess of Drogheda.
- „ 3. ' Sir John King '—Obtained from Queen Elizabeth, in requital for military service in Ireland, the Abbey of Boyle, co. Roscommon, and from James I. valuable territorial grants. He married Katherine, daughter of Robert Drury, and grand-niece of the Lord Deputy, Sir William Drury. From him descend the Earls of Kingston, of Mitchelstown, co. Cork.
- „ 3. ' Sir John Leak '—He had grants of land in Tipperary and Limerick, and from him descended families of gentry in both these shires. The Leake family of Tipperary were seated at Holycross, and those of Limerick at Rathkeale. Colonel Leake of Holycross, circa 1714, had a daughter, who was married to Christopher Nugent, M.D., and their daughter, Jane Mary Nugent, became the wife of Edmund Burke, the illustrious statesman. She was born in 1734, and died 2 April, 1812.
- „ 3. ' Bishop of Corck '—The Earl's brother, ut frequenter. See below in text. Ibid. ' Sir William Hull '—Of Leamcon Manor, co. Cork, of whom antè. Ibid. ' Sir John Everard '—He had estates near Fethard, in the county of Tipperary. Ibid. ' Keppagh ' = Cappagh (Irish), a tillage plot, is of frequent occurrence in the counties of Cork and Waterford, as a place-name. This Keppagh, or Cappagh, was probably the place yet known by this appellation, in the parish of Whitechurch, co. Waterford, now the seat of John Ussher, Esq.

- Page 4. 'Edward Davenant'—This is a frequently recurring name of an Essex family, and probably third son of William Davenant, of Davenant's lands. ("Visitation of Essex," vol. i., p. 388, Harleian Society.)
- „ 5. 'pay one yeares Rent . . . due . . . to his Ma^{ty}' = quit and Crown Rent. Ibid. 'Sir William Tatbes'—See note on p. 3 of vol. i., p. 274. Ibid. 'cnogher' = Conogher. See p. 66. Ibid. 'Hanks' = the family name of the "old heires."
- „ 6-7. 'Edward Cary' . . . 'M^{rs} Margery' . . . Edward Cary, nephew of Sir George Cary, of Cockington, lord deputy, married Margaret Blackhurst, of Lancashire, and had two sons. From him descends the family of Torr Abbey. (See Cary of Torr Abbey, in Burke's "Landed Gentry.")
- „ 7. 'Sir Charles Wilmott'—Created Viscount Wilmot of Athlone, 4 January, 1620-1 : from whom Earls of Rochester. Ibid. 'better cheap' = very cheap. 'Replevns' = law term.
- „ 8. 'fflemynsland'—Near Tourin, a castle of the Roches, not far from Lismore.
- „ 9. 'Sir Thomas Roper'—Created Viscount Baltinglass, 27 June, 1627 (Burke's "Extinct Peerage"). Ibid. 'ir' = Irish. Ibid. 'The Lo. cheef Justice' = Sir George Shurley, so appointed by patent, 17 June, 1620. Ibid. 'Sir W^m Rives'—Sir William Ryves was appointed Attorney-General of Ireland, by patent, 30 October, 1619, and third Justice of King's Bench, 4 April, 1636. Ibid. 'Sir W^m power'—Lord Cork's opponent: see vol. i., frequentur. Ibid. 'Mynteen' = Meentinn, a townland in the parish of Clonfert, barony of Duhallow, and county of Cork.

- Page 10. 'Sir Thomas Brown'—Of Hospital, county of Limerick. (See "Peerage"—EARLS OF KENMARE.) Ibid. 'Ive-Leary' = (Uibh-Laeghaire), the territory of O'Leary. Ibid. 'irreplevizable' = irrepleviable, i.e., not to be redeemed: law term.
- „ 11. 'gnyves' = gneeves. A gneeve (gniomb, in Irish) is the twelfth part of a ploughland.
- „ 11. 'Ballydergan'—Query: Ballyderoon? The castle of Ballyderoon stands between the Ariglen and Funcheon rivers, not far from their junction with the Blackwater, near Fermoy.
- „ 11. 'coam'—As queried, 'roan' or 'cream'?
- „ 11. 'Mr John Colstons'—The name is still quick in Bristol for charities founded by him, and annual speechifications of a political hue on both sides.
- „ 11. 'Angell gabrel' = Gabriel—See Introduction in vol. i. on this name. We have 'The Good Samaritan' for name of a public-house in this town of Blackburn wherein I write. Ibid. 'customes' = Receiver of Customs, or Collector of the Port.
- „ 12. 'Cool' (cuil, Irish, a corner) is near Castle Lyons. Here is Coole Abbey, a seat of the Peard family. Ibid. 'fargne bake' = Jamesbrook, in the parish of Garranekinnefeake, barony of Imokilly.
- „ 13. 'Ballinlowntagh'—A townland in co. Waterford.

- Page 13. 'Henry Stubbes'—A person of this name published in 1666, "The Miraculous Conformist: or an account of Severall Marvaillous Cures performed by the stroaking of the Hands of M^r Valentine Greatarick, with a Physicall Discourse thereupon, in a letter to the Honourable Robert Boyle, Esq." Ibid. 'Lyte-radg' = freight for conveyance in lighters or barges.
- „ 14. 'Lust taffata'—"Lush. Of a dark deep full colour, opposite to pale and faint." [Johnson.]
- „ 14. 'wednesdaies lectures' = a week-day Service, apparently ordered by the Earl of Cork.
- „ 14. 'woodstock' = a townland in the parish of Carrigtohill, barony of Barrymore and county of Cork.
- „ 14. 'garran' = work-horse, as before.
- „ 15. 'neen' = vol. i., p. 282, or p. 57. Ibid. 'Barryrathe' = Barreragh, a townland in the parish of Lislee, barony of Ibane and Barryroe, and county of Cork. Ibid. 'in calf,' i.e., in gestation. Ibid. 'parakeete' = paroquet? i.e., shapen as a Paroquet; or green, the bird's colour.
- „ 16. 'ffyrnes' = ferns, bracken. Ibid. 'not wood'—Needed for pipe-staves, &c., and the enormous using up of which led to speedy clearing of Irish forests and greenwood. When at Kilcolman one's heart is saddened to-day to look at the bared mountains that in Spenser's day were clothed from level to height. Except stripped Lebanon, I have seen no more painful sight.
- „ 16. 'Bread'—Bree (in Irish) signifies a hill, like Scottish Brae. Breeda, "the double hill" [i.e., two peaks], is a townland in parish of Ardagh, near Youghal.

- Page 16. 'mearing.' See note on p. 8, vol. i., or p. 278.
- „ 17. 'John Cade'—A not unfrequent Irish name. Whether descended of the renowned (or notorious) 'Jack' the Editor knoweth not.
- „ 17. 'Herriots.' See note on p. 100, vol. i., or p. 285.
- „ 17. 'Sir W^m Smyth.' Query : of Ashton Court, Somerset? I do not find this baptismal name among the Smyths of Ballynatray, co. Waterford.
- „ 17. 'W^m chettle'—Like Tottell, another English name, that comes up in contemporary and earlier English literature.
- „ 17. 'cooleeryn' and 'coolegortbwy' . . . 'ffarnham' . . = farms at Affane, on the Blackwater, near Lismore.
- „ 18. 'earnest' = pledge, as before.
- „ 18. 'Sir Thomas Southwell'—He was of the Council of Munster, and was seated at Poulnelong, co. Cork. He married Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas Harris of Cornworthy, Devon, and sister of Sir Edward Harris, Justice of the King's Bench. Lady Southwell was a poetess of some merit. She wrote (among others) a Poetical Epistle of 121 lines to Doctor Bernard Adams, Bishop of Limerick, 1604-1636. Sir Thomas Southwell died 12 June, 1626. His funeral certificate is in the British Museum.
- „ 18. 'Cords.' Query, Coote, often mentioned in this Diary?
- „ 18. 'Sir John dowdall'—Of Pilltown Castle.. See ante.
- „ 18. 'Sir Anthony Aucher'—Of Bourne, Kent, Sheriff of that shire, 12 James I. He died July, 1637, and was succeeded by his son, Anthony, created a Baronet 4 July, 1666 (see Aucher of Bishopsbourne, "Extinct Baronetcies").

- Page 19. 'Kilnockan'—In the county of Waterford, near Ardmore.
- „ 19. 'Iland of whydy & balligobban'—Whiddy is in Bantry Bay, opposite the town of Bantry. Balligobban is on the mainland, not far from the town.
- „ 20. 'Sir Edward deering'—It is pleasant to come on this famous knight's name as a visitor in Ireland.
- „ 20. 'Sir ffaithfull ffortescue'—See Peerage, BARON CLERMONT. Ibid. Aghglassan = Ahaglaslin (hodie). Ibid. The yoghall = eo-chaille, Yew Wood, and (hodie) Yoghalls, a townland in the parish of Kilgariffe, county of Cork.
- „ 20. 'Nedd Skott my lo : Chichesters harper'—See Introduction in vol. i.
- „ 21. 'Sir John ffynnett'—Seems to be unknown : perhaps 'Sir' was a clerical designation? A family of this name was seated at Sulton, Kent.
- „ 21. 'Sir ffrances Blundell'—Created a Baronet of Ireland, 13 Oct., 1620. Ancestor of the VISCOUNT BLUNDELL : extinct in 1756.
- „ 22. 'sowe iron' ut frequenter—Now 'pig' iron is the term. It means "cast" iron, as distinguished from "malleable" iron, and was probably named from its rotund and oblong shape after fusion.
- „ 22. 'Sir Domynick Sarsfeyld'—Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Ireland, and created a baronet 30 Sept., 1619; Viscount Kilmallock, 1624. Deposed by sentence of the Court of Star Chamber, 1634, of his seat on the Bench.
- „ 22. 'Sir Garrott Lother' (and 'Loather' below)—Sir Gerard Lowther, serjeant at law in England, was made Chief Justice of the Common Pleas on Sarsfield's deprivation in 1634.

- Page 23. 'drissbanebeg' = a townland in the parish of Drishane, barony of Duhallow, and County of Cork.
- „ 24. 'clonea' = a vicarage, near Dungarvan, county of Waterford.
- „ 28. 'glanbànemore' = Glenane More (hodie), a townland in the parish of Mogeely and county of Cork.
- „ 29. 'Lorde viscount of Athlone' = Sir Roger Jones, created VISCOUNT RANELAGH, 25 August, 1628.
- „ 29. 'The great castle called Castlane necrussby'—Near Dingle, in co. Kerry.
- „ 30. 'dondanger' = Dundaneere, or Downdaniel, situated between Innishannon and Bandon, in county of Cork.
- „ 32. 'lackefun, clonmore,' &c.—In the county of Waterford, near Dungarvan.
- „ 32 'Ardkitts and ffarrensisseragh'—Townlands in the parish of Desertserges, barony of Carbery and county of Cork.
- „ 32. 'enclosier' = park. Ibid. 'Ardnesack'—Adjacent to the town of Youghal, co. Cork. Ibid. 'cradocks point'—Evidently at Youghal; but the designation is now lost.
- „ 33. 'Malperos'—A foreign-sounding name. Ibid. 'ffyre fforck' = poker—a transition name: Ibid. 'baking in both my abbeis.' There were flour-mills at both friaries (Dominican to the North and Franciscan to the South) of Youghal; and in Lord Cork's leases were clauses requiring his tenants to grind their corn exclusively at these mills, being his lordship's property.

- ‘Clearck’ the miller is here to have the further privilege of ‘baking.’
- Page 34. ‘Lo: Bowrck of Brittas.’ Theobald Bourke was created Lord Burgh, Baron of Brittas, 28 Jan., 1618. (“Extinct Peerage,” p. 67.)
- „ 35. ‘Sir James Semple’—Of Letterkenny, Ireland, now represented by Lord Southwell. He was son of Robert, fourth BARON SEMPILL, and of his second wife, Dame Johanna de Evieland, a lady of the Low Countries. (See “Peerage”: “SEMPILL”.)
- „ 36. ‘ogekill’—Okyll (eo-chaille = the yew-wood) is a townland containing 175 acres, close to Camphire, on the banks of the river Bride.
- „ 36. ‘Lady Ellen ffitz gerald’—This masculine lady was widow of Sir John Fitzgerald of Dromana. She was daughter of Maurice FitzGibbon, the White Knight. Her last will was dated 30 May, 1630.
- „ 37. ‘gale’ = accruing rent. Ib. ‘4th sheaf’ = heriott or tenure-payment.
- „ 38. ‘decies.’ See Note on p. 240, vol. i., p. 298.
- „ 39. ‘parson fföxe’—Richard Fox, rector of Brigowne, diocese of Cloyne (Brady’s “Cork Records,” vol. ii., p. 65).
- „ 40. ‘indifferent’ = impartial, or unprejudiced. Sir Lawrence Parsons was now resident at Youghal.
- „ 41. ‘Tallagh knuyes’—Lord Cork’s industry is everywhere manifested in these entries of his Diary. He had evidently established the cutlery trade, supplying material from his own works. ‘Tallagh,’ in Irish tealach, signifies ‘a hill,’ and this town, which stands on a lofty eminence, is called in Irish Tea-lach-an-iarainn = the hill of the iron. For the mines worked there by the Great Earl of Cork, see Joyce's "Origin and History of Irish Names of Places," 1st Series, p. 356.

- Page 41. 'Mr. Snell'—William Snell, M.A., a Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin, was presented by the Crown to the prebendal living of Modeligo, diocese of Lismore, together with the precentorship of Waterford Cathedral, united pro hac vice, 10 November, 1620, and was installed February 3rd, 1621. In six days after he was admitted a Vicar Choral of Lismore. He died about 1641 (Cotton's "Fasti," i., pp. 199, 200).
- „ 41. 'Dawborn'—Richard Daborne was Dean of Lismore from 1621 to 1627-8 (Cotton's "Fasti," i., 167).
- „ 41. 'Monoaross rout'—'Rout,' as before frequenter, is used as part of a local name. Ruadh in Irish means 'red,' and was often added thus when the clay was reddish. Cognate with Latin ruber and English 'ruddy.'
- „ 42. 'gortrenfeyry'—A farm in the parish of Tallagh, county of Waterford. Ibid. 'glamballycollenan'—Now unknown. Ibid. 'Shandon'—See p. 54. Ibid. 'Lady Hull' = wife of Sir William Hull, of Leamcon Manor, co. Cork. See p. 3.
- „ 43. 'Lord Viscount Grandizon' = Sir Oliver St. John, created Viscount Grandison, 3 January, 1620. He died in 1630.
- „ 43. 'defalcable' = to be deducted.
- „ 47. 'Errivane' = Qu. Eaman, Irish for Edmund?
- „ 48. 'Richard Bolton'—Solicitor-General, 1618, Attorney-

General of the Court of Wards, 1622, and Lord Chancellor of Ireland, 1639.

- Page 48. 'therefore' = there for. Ibid. 'Sealing the Leather'—See Note on p. 7, vol. i., or p. 278. Ibid. 'Hercules' of Affane—The ancient name, still in use, e.g., Sir Hercules Robinson of to-day, whose doings 'at the Cape' have been much in men's mouths of late.
- „ 49. 'Lo. Viscount ffawlkLand'—One of the celebrities of the time.
- „ 49. 'Cutty' = Cuthbert. Cuidighe, in Irish, a companion, or assistant (from cuideadh, i.e., help), reminds us of "Cuddy," of Colin Clout, and of "Cuddie," of the Shepherd's Calendar. The latter, of course, long preceded Spenser's Irish residence: and the former only continues the other. Still it is interesting to note the name.
- „ 49. 'Sir dudley Norton'—Secretary of State to King Charles I., for which office he had a grant of £200 a year, 28 July, 1 Car. I. He had also large grants of lands in Ireland.
- „ 49. 'Sir John Jephson'—Knighted in 1603, a Privy Councillor of Ireland. He married Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Sir Thomas Norreys, Lord President of Munster. His descendant and representative is Sir Charles Denham Jephson Norreys, Bart., of Mallow, co. Cork.
- „ 50. 'pyckled skallops' = the scallop, Pecten opercularis, is largely used for food in Ireland.
- „ 51. 'Almesses' = an aume (ama, Du Cange) was a Dutch measure of wine, containing 34 imperial gallons.

In Dunbar's "Social Life in former Days," sub anno 1694, we have "Four Alms of white Rhenish Wine, not exceeding 17 dollars per alme."

Page 52. 'Sir Thomas Penruddock'—He was of a family seated at Arcleby, Cumberland, and of Compton Chamberlayne, Wilts.

„ 52. 'Sir Henry Bowrchier'—Son of Sir George Bouchier, General of Queen Elizabeth's Army in Munster, A.D. 1580. He succeeded to the Earldom of Bath, in 1636, and d. s. p. 15 August, 1654.

„ 52. 'muster at Bandonbridge'—Bennet, in his "History of Bandon" (pp. 71-2), writes:—"Bandon had increased so much in population . . . that we find in this year [1622] the town formed quite a little army of its own. When the King's Commissioners paid their official visit here on the 30th of August, Captain Andrew Kettleby's troop, consisting of sixty-six well-mounted and well-equipped troopers, marched to the parade-field for inspection. A body of foot was also on the ground ; which, exclusive of its four captains, five lieutenants, and five ensigns, consisted of six serjeants, six drummers, and five hundred and sixty-four rank and file. The captains were Anthony Stawell, Hubert Nicholas, Richard Crofte, and Anthony Skipwith."

„ 53. 'The princis ayde for marriadg'—See page 69, under 7 Feb., 1622. These entries possess historical value, as they place on record Royal "aydes" contributed by Ireland, but unmentioned by Irish writers. It is evident that King James's pecuniary straits induced him to levy on his Irish fief subsidies, similar to those extorted from English landholders by his Royal Proclamations. These entries further demonstrate that the assessment was made on counties severally, and by a poundage on each ploughland (or hundred); and that the rateable value of the county of Cork was, in 1622-23, four times that of Waterford.

"The prince's ayde for marriadg" was preparatory to his repairing to Madrid, as he did in the month of February following, accompanied by the Duke of Buckingham, to solicit the hand of the Infanta. Full light is thrown upon the "Spanish Marriage" in Dr. Gardiner's book, bearing that title. The "ayde" for the Lady Elizabeth's marriage had a retrospective character, i.e., to discharge her dowry promised ten years previously. She had married, 14 February, 1612-13, Frederick V., Duke of Bavaria, Elector Palatine of the Rhine, and King of Bohemia. It is noticeable that Kings' daughters were, at this period, undistinguished from the Nobles' daughters by their titles. This Princess before her marriage had a Company of Players, who were styled "The Lady Elizabeth's Servants."

Page 54. 'mustered at Tallagh'—Smith, in his "History of Cork" (i. 56), gives this description:—"On the 5th of September the same year [1622] there were reviewed at Tallagh by the same Commissioners, 235 horse, in four troops, well-mounted, armed and disciplined, commanded by Sir Robert Tynte, Knight, Sir John Leake, Knight, Captain Robert Gore and Captain Roger Carew, with twenty other officers, lieutenants, cornets, &c. Also 754 foot, in eight companies, commanded by Captain Richard Smith, Captain Thomas Mansfield, Captain John Strongman, Captain Richard Joliff, Captain Anthony Southwell, Captain John Oglethorp, Captain Gregory Segar, and Captain Gyles Bernard, with lieutenants, ensigns, serjeants, drums, &c., among whom were eighteen freeholders and thirty copyholders, all tenants to the Earl of Cork, and by him planted on the seigniories purchased from Sir Walter Raleigh." Ibid. 'Nicholas Sawnders'—In the Royal Visitation of 1634, now in H.M. Public Record Office, Dublin, we read:—"1622. October 4. Nicholas Saunders admissus ad Rectoriam dimidiatem de Templeogan, Cloyne, et inductus October 7th." Templeogan, alias Templekeogane, was also called 'Letter' (hodie Litter), in Irish Leitir = a hill-side that is soft by tricklings of water. Vide Cormac's "Glossary," sub voce "LETIR." "Litter: Vicaria ibidem spectat ad Abb' de ffermoy et usurpatur. Valet xij^{li} per an. Comes Cork habet. Nicholas Saunders admissus et institutus fuit in eundem per nuper Epūm."

Page 55. 'Mr. Godden's = Godwin or Goodwin?

- „ 56. 'god send,' &c.—The engagement of the Lady Katharine Boyle with Sapcott Beaumont, which appears and reappears in this Diary, fell through, so that this augury was unfulfilled. She was married to Arthur Jones, Viscount Ranelagh, while Beaumont took to wife Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Thomas Monson, by whom he had two sons and a daughter. See our edition of the Poems of Sir John Beaumont, Bart., in Fuller "Worthies" Library, with full Memorial—Introduction.

- Page 57. 'Kilcaskan'—A townland in the parish of Ballymoney, in the barony of Carbery and county of Cork.
- „ 57. 'Sir Anthonie Ager'—Of Kent. His only daughter and heir, Elizabeth, was married to Sir Humphry Gilbert, the famous navigator, half-brother of Sir Walter Raleigh, and who was lost at sea.
- „ 57. 'Sir Georg onslow'—Of a family ennobled 25 June, 1716, and now represented by the Earl of Onslow.
- „ 57. 'Rahane Lane'—The lane near the little Rath, or circular Fort, and still known by this name. It is near St. Mary's Church, Youghal.
- „ 58. 'Lavallen'—A family name of frequent occurrence in our own day. Perhaps a corruption of Llewellyn.
- „ 58. 'Hannyball'—Odd name for an Englishman = Hannibal. The Horseys are slightly connected with English literature. See our "Occasional Issues," Willobie's "Avisa," 1594: "Apologie," 1596: "The Victorie of English Chastitie," 1596, and "Penelope's Complaint" by Peter Colse, 1596 (4to. 1880).
- „ 60. 'now Lo Bics^p of Cork'—This was Dr. Richard Boyle. He was brother of Michael, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, and cousin-german of his immediate predecessor, Dr. John Boyle. In the previous year [1621] he had petitioned the King that the See of Cloyne which he had received in commendam, "might be united to Cork so as to be deemed one bishopric." The King granted this, directing that he be entitled Bishop of Cork and Cloyne; that the cathedrals of Cork and Cloyne be his cathedrals; and that he have leave to reside in whatever part of the diocese he may find most convenient. Dated October 14. [Rot. Pat.]

- Page 61. 'Justice Gernon'—Not on the Irish Bench. Qu. only a Justice of the Peace? Ibid. 'Moallo' = Mallow.
- „ 61. 'Abbeis of Tracton, Castle Lyons & Rosgrilly'—Tracton Abbey, four miles from Carrigaline, co. Cork, was founded for Cistercian monks in 1224; Castle Lyons, twenty-one miles from Cork, was founded by the Barry family in 1307 for Franciscans. 'Rosgrilly'—There is no such place. Query. 'Mogeely,' near Tallow, or Ross Carbery? Ibid. 'Coly yodo' = Ballyvodock, near Midleton.
- „ 62. 'balde doe' = hornless, as before—a fine.
- „ 63. 'vickar Butler'—Peter Butler was Prebendary of Lismore, 1607-1616.
- „ 63-4. 'Rectories and tythes,' &c.—The Royal Visitation Book of 1634 found as follows:—"The College of Yoghall is now in the hands of Sir Richard Boyle, Knt., by grant from his Majesty. It hath several churches and chappels thereunto annexed, viz., The entire rectories of Yoghall, Clonprest, Ardagh, Killeagh, Ightermurragh, Mallow and Carrigaline; the vicarages of Kilmacdonogh, Garrivoe, and Kilcredan; the parsonages of Aghern, Skull, Ballynoe, Kilmoie, and Caheragh, one of the rectories of Myross, and one of the rectories of Creagh." (Vide Hayman's "Memorials," as before, p. 16.)
- „ 64. 'Sir Thomas waldron'—recte Walrond. He was second son of Humphrey Walrond, of Bradfield, co. Devon, by Mary, daughter of Sir Thomas Willoughby, one of the Justices of the Common Pleas, England.

- „ 66. 'Bealick'—A townland in the parish of Macroom, barony of Muskery, in the county of Cork.
- „ 66. 'Broghill'—From this the Earl of Cork's eldest son Roger took his title of Baron. It is a townland in the parish of Ballyhea, Barony of Orrery and Kilmore, co. Cork.
- „ 68. 'statute of wynchester'—In the reign of Edgar a law was made to prevent frauds arising from the diversity of measures in different parts of the kingdom, and for the establishment of a legal and universal standard measure. The standard vessels, made by this monarch's order, were deposited at Winchester, and the original bushel is still preserved in the Guildhall. Ibid. 'tyeth pilchers' = tenth of the pilchards (herrings) taken by the fishermen. Lord Cork levied the impropriate tithes of Castlehaven.
- „ 70. 'gatehouse'—Evidently the Diary was now being written at Lismore. The 'gatehouse' of the castle is in fine preservation, and over the gateway itself are the arms of Boyle with the family motto.
- „ 71. 'Mr. Gessop' = Richard Jessop, Vicar Choral of Lismore, 1626. Prebendary of Cork, 1618-1634.
- „ 71. 'Richard Northern'—Prebendary of Lismore in 1630. He died in 1634. He is called in the Royal Visitation of 1634, Morthirere, or Worthirne.
- „ 72. 'tapestry hangings'—There were some fine specimens

- of tapestry in the chief reception room of the Castle of Lismore, until of late years.
- Page 72. 'Jopes' = dupes? Ibid. 'Sir Frances Slingsbie'—One of His Majesty's Council of the Province of Munster, 15 Sept., 1626. (Rot. Pat., 2^o Carol. s. 2^{do} pars dorso membranum, 13.)
- „ 73. 'imprest' = bind.
- „ 73. 'great Lugg of Masons worck'—Lug = perch. Gough makes it 16½ feet. Spenser uses it in "Faerie Queene," b. ii., c. x., st. 11—"the large leape which Debon did compell Coulin to make, being eight lugs of grownd."
- „ 74. 'Sir Randall cleyton'—He had grants of land near Mallow, where his descendants continued for many generations. An heiress carried these estates into the family of Love.
- „ 75. 'Alice fenton'—Sir William Fenton had married, 29 Dec., 1614, at the College of Youghal, Margaret, daughter of Fitzgibbon, The White Knight. (See Diary of that date.)
- „ 76. 'Sir John Everard'—Of Fethard, county of Tipperary, where he had large estates. Ibid. 'Lands of Camphier'—These are situated on the Blackwater, not far from Lismore.
- „ 80. 'prize=prisage'—See note on p. 20, vol. i., or p. 280. Ibid. 'extended' = valued (literally, 'drawn up'), a legal term.
- „ 81. 'thearle of castlehaven & his Countess.'—Mervyn Touchet, 2nd Earl of Castlehaven. His Countess was Ann, daughter of Ferdinando, Earl of Derby. He was beheaded on Tower Hill, 14 May, 1631.

- „ 81. ‘lings . . . haberdynes’—The former is a very common sea-fish, the latter is the codfish dried and salted, as were doubtless the ‘lings’ that were taken to Dublin. The latter name still is used, apparently, for both. Ibid. ‘Almesses.’ Qu. Holibut, or Halibut? or can the fish intended be the Twaite Shad (Alosa Finta) called locally ‘Ale-wives’? (“Notes and Queries,” 21 July, 1860.)
- Page 83. ‘Mr. John Steer, B^p of Kilfenneragh’—Dr. John Steere was Bishop of Kilfenora 1617-1621, and of Ardferf 1621-1628.
- „ 83. ‘Jerom the preacher’ and ‘M^r [Stephen] Jerom’—He was of St. John’s College, Cambridge, B.A. 1603, M.A. 1607, and was Domestic Chaplain to the Earl of Cork. He published various books, of which the following may be noted: (a) “Seaven Helps to Heaven,” . . . the third edition. 1619-20. 2 Parts. 4to. (b) Ireland’s Jubilee, or Joyes Io-Pæan, for Prince Charles his welcome home . . .” Dublin, 1624. 4to. The name occurs frequently in this Diary, earlier and later.
- „ 84. ‘Catherlagh’ = Carlow; ‘Carrick’ [on Suir]? Ibid. ‘Vna’—See Introduction in vol. i. Ibid. ‘who named him’ = christen, as before.
- „ 86. Kufs = cuffs.
- „ 86. ‘the hospitall’—‘Hospitall’—So named from a Preceptory of Knights Templars there founded, A.D. 1226, by Sir Geoffrey de Mauriscoe (then Lord Justice of Ireland), is a town and parish in the county or Limerick, four miles from Bruff.
- „ 87. Kynameolky = Kinalmeaky, is a barony (or hundred) in the county of Cork, whence the Earl of Cork's second son, Lewis, took his title of Viscount Kinalmeaky.

- Page 88. 'Sir James craig.'—A Scot, whose patents for vast grants of land in Ireland are enrolled interannos 1625-1632. See more of him, page 170, and note thereon.
- „ 88. 'spitall courtenearle' = Hospital Court of the Earl. 'Iarla' (an earl) is a word that was borrowed into the Irish at the time of the Anglo-Norman invasion. It is in constant use in the annals of Ireland; for the old historians, when recording events in which the great Anglo-Norman lords were engaged, did not translate the word earl, but transferred it with a slight change of form. In Tyrone, we have Suidbe-iarla, The Earl's Mansion; in Limerick, Kilmacan-iarla, the Church of the Earl's Son; in Wexford, Tomin-iarla, the Earl's Tomb. Ibid. 'aleterneatile' = alternately, i.e., alternate presentation.
- „ 89. 'garra.' See Note in vol. i., p. 297. Ibid. 'Ibawn'—The occurrence of this name, here and elsewhere, enables us to correct the reading of Lord Cork's vexatious writing, in vol. i., p. 297; where for 'Iburne' read 'Ibawn.'
- „ 90. 'monesteries' = a strand near Dungarvan.
- „ 91. 'M^r peeter de Latfewr' = a Holland merchant.
- „ 93. 'table book' = note-book, as we now say. Ibid. '2 little yrish boys' = dolls dressed up as such.
- „ 94, 96. 'I paid . . . pereg.' See Introduction in vol. i. on these important Spenserian entries and various others. Ibid. controverction = controversy, or litigation.

- Page 96. ‘Sir Thomas Sowthwell’—He was sent by James I. to Ireland to promote the plantation, or colonization, of Munster, where he was one of the Council to the President of that province. He married the daughter of Sir Thomas Harris, of Cornworthy, Down, and sister of Sir Edward Harris, third Justice of the King’s Bench, Ireland, by whom he had two daughters—Elizabeth, wife of Sir John Dowdall, of Pilltown Castle, and Frances, married to William Lenthall, who had (with others) a son, William Lenthall, Speaker of the Long Parliament. Sir Thomas Southwell died 12 June, 1626. His funeral certificate is in British Museum.
- „ 96. ‘Sir Thomas Standish’—He was granted estates at Bruff, co. Limerick. His daughter and heiress, Faith, married in 1633 Darby O’Grady of Killyowen. See “Landed Gentry”—O’Grady.
- „ 97. ‘Anye’—Any, or Knockany, is a small village about twelve miles south-east of Limerick. A Preceptory of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem was founded here, A.D. 1226, by Geoffrey de Mauriscoe, and is the ‘commandry’ here alluded to. Ibid. ‘had notice the 5’—Four days for news, and news of such kind, to reach Lismore from Dublin! Ibid. ‘a pair of the Duke’s gloves’—Qu. ‘Tho[mas] Duke’s gloves’—Some local glover? Duke is still a Cork surname.
- „ 98. ‘aduces’ = legal evidences. Ibid. ‘Lugg.’ See note antè.
- „ 99. ‘lent his Ma^{ty}, &c.’—See Introduction in vol. i. Loans to the Sovereign, made by private individuals, were of frequent occurrence in the Tudor and Stuart reigns, and royal letters soliciting such aids are still preserved as heirlooms in many families.

Page 100. 'Earle of Ormond . . . created Earle in october 1328'—In the Peerages it is dated November 2nd : and so the earldom of Desmond is assigned to 22nd, not 27th, as here. Ibid. 'Mr. W^m purlewent'—Five descents of this family are given in the Visitation of Gloucestershire, 1623 (Harleian Society, 1885).

„ 101. 'castle of Corneveagh'—The ruins of this castle, which was situated about two miles from Youghal, yet exist. 'Corneveagh' (Irish) signifies 'the round hill of the ravens.' Ibid. 'L^o Bicsshop of waterforde' = Dr. John Lancaster. Ibid. 'Earle of Ormonde'—He was 10th Earl of Ormonde and 3rd of Ossory. He was called by the Irish dubh, or 'the swarthy,' from his complexion. There is a fine portrait of him in Kilkenny Castle ; and a woodcut (unhappily) reversed on the block, was given with biographical memoranda in the "Journal of the Kilkenny Archæological Society" (New Series, vol. iii. 389 sq.).

„ 102 'countess of Desmond'—Not a Geraldine. She was the Lady Elizabeth Butler, only child of the Earl of Ormonde (ut supra), and wife of Preston, Lord Dingwall, who was created Viscount Callan and Earl of Desmond, 20th November, 1622. Ibid. 'earle of Westmoreland'—See my edition of his "Poems" in my 'Occasional Issues' of Unique and Rare Books, with a full Memoir prefixed. He died 23rd, not 21st, March, 1628. Ibid. 'my dear wife . . . died'—See a fuller entry onward.

Page 103. Vall. brown'—Sir Valentine Brown was ancestor of the Earls of Kenmare. Ibid. 'Falkland'—This Lord Falkland (Sir Henry Carey) had been Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, 1622-29. Ibid. 'lo. Roche'—If the 'noble friend' of Lord Cork, he was the malignant and foul-mouthed enemy of Spenser. See Life (vol. i., pp. 156-58). Ibid. 'M^{rs} Lovell'—See Introduction in vol. i. on this extraordinary entry. Ibid. 'Bawn'
 "was admitted to some Roomes in the bawn of the castle where his lp. had opportunitie," &c. Bawn—The ballium or bailey of an old castle was the ground-plot inside the encircling walls. Central generally was the 'donjon,' or keep, forming the feudal lord's residence, with apartments for the members of his family, his visitors, servants, and personal guard. Near this would be often found a Chapel, with a house for ecclesiastics. In another portion of the bailey, the soldiers would have their quarters; and here also would exist lodgings for workmen, stables, and other offices. The most level part of the enclosure was customarily reserved as a 'green' for games and exercises. The 'bawn' of an Anglo-Irish castle was identical with the ballium, and may have derived its name from it. Some Irish scholars, however, regard the word as an anglicised form of the Irish badhun, i.e., an enclosure for cows, a name occur-

ing in the "Four Masters," anno, 1547. The bawns may still be seen within the ruins of many of the old castles of Ireland; and they sometimes give the district around its appellation. The townland of Bawn in the parish of Moydow, Longford, derives its name from the bawn of Moydow Castle, which remains in tolerable preservation with its surrounding walls and flanking towers.

Page 104. 'Inchieolghan' = the seat of the Comerford family, near Leighlin, county of Carlow. Ibid. 'Sir John Norreis'—The Lord President of Munster was a very distinguished General in the Low Countries and in Portugal, where he established the house of Braganza on the throne. Cox, in his "History of Ireland," vol. i., pp. 409, 410, reviews his services. Borlase, in his "Reduction of Ireland," page 176, tells us that Queen Elizabeth selected him, in 1595, to assist the Lord Deputy, Sir William Russell, against Tyrone and the Ulster rebels; that, contrary to the Deputy's judgment, he made a truce with Tyrone, prejudicial (through the great rebel's deceit) to English interests, and that he died of chagrin on the failure of his negotiations. Spenser's sonnet addressed to him is his most enduring memorial: "Who ever gave more honourable prize," &c. Raleigh is supposed to have served under Norris in the Low Countries (Edwards' "Life," vol. i., 33; ii., 194). Ibid. 'Lo. Burgh'—Thomas Burgh, 6th Baron Burgh of Gainsborough, succeeded Sir William Russell (ut supra) in the lieutenancy of Ireland in 1594, in which year, according to Burke's "Extinct Peerage" (p. 90), he died. Ibid. 'Lady . . . Cowly'—She was wife of Sir Henry Colley, or Cowley, Knight, of Castle Carbery, co. Kildare—a family for ever illustrious as having given us WELLINGTON. Ibid. 'Earl of Thomonde'—Donogh, fourth Earl of Thomond, was commonly called the Great Earl, being of distinguished courage, loyalty, and worth. He was highly esteemed by Queen Elizabeth and James I., in whose courts he was brought up; and he was rewarded by them with honourable employments, and large additions to his estate. He was of the Privy Council to both Sovereigns. He had a considerable share in the victory at Kinsale, in 1601, over the Irish and Spaniards, as it is set forth at large in "Pacata Hibernia." In 1602 the county of Clare was reunited, at his request, to the province of Munster. His commission of martial law was at the same time renewed, with the continuance of his body-guard of 200 men. He was also privileged by the Queen to be constantly joined next to the President and Chief Justice in all commissions of Oyer and Terminer, Gaol Delivery, and determining of civil causes. In 1604, 30 July, his Lordship was made Constable of Carlow Castle. In 1605, 6 May, he was appointed Lord President of Munster; and in 1619, 17 May, he was made Governor of Clare and Thomond. He married, first, Ellen, daughter of Maurice, Viscount Fer-moy, by whom he had an only daughter, Margaret. His second wife was Elizabeth, daughter of Gerald, eleventh Earl of Kildare; and by her, who died 12 January, 1617-8, he had Henry and Barnabas, successive Earls of Thomond. The Earl of Thomond died 5 September, 1624, and was buried in the Cathedral Church of Limerick, where his noble monument is to be seen in good preservation.

- Page 105. 'Sir Tibbott Roche' = Sir Theobald Roche. Ibid.
 'Sir Thomas Beaumont' of Coleorton, M.P., created a Baronet of England in 1619, and raised to the Peerage of Ireland, as Viscount Beaumont of Swords, in 1622.
- „ „ 'Sir Arthure chichester'—Progenitor of the noble House of DONEGALL (see "Peerage," s. n).
- „ „ 'Sir ffances Blundell' = brother and heir of Sir George Blundell, Knight, of Cardington, Bedfordshire, who had a grant of the manor of Blundell, King's County, Ireland. He was created a Baronet of Ireland, 13 October, 1620. His great grandson, Sir Montague Blundell, fourth Baronet, was raised to the Peerage of Ireland, 22 November, 1720, as Baron of Edenderry and Viscount Blundell. The title expired with him in 1756.
- „ „ 'Mr John ffitz gerald'—He married Eleanor, daughter of James, Lord Dunboyne, and left issue. On his tomb, in St. Mary's Church, Youghal, the 1st of March (not the 9th) is given as the date of his decease.
- „ „ 'Sir Edward villyers'—He was half-brother of George Villiers, Duke of Buckingham, through whose interest he was appointed Lord President of Munster, 27th May, 1625, on the decease of the Earl of Thomond. He married Barbara, eldest daughter of Sir John St. John, of Lidiard Tregose, Wilts, and niece of Sir Oliver St. John, who was created, 3rd January, 1620, Viscount Grandison in the Peerage of Ireland, with remainder to the issue male of his niece, Lady Villiers. By this marriage Sir Edward Villiers had four sons and three daughters. He died in office, September 7th, 1626, at the College of Youghal, lamented more deeply than any governor who had formerly ruled the province. His tomb, in excellent preservation, is at the east end of the Cork transept, St. Mary's, Youghal, and bears this inscription :—

HERE LIES THE BODY OF
SIR EDWARD VILLERS WHO DIED LORD PRESIDENT OF MVNSTER
ANNO DOMINI
16

*Munster may curse
The time that Villers came,
To make us worse
By Leaveinge Such a name
Of noble parts
As none can Imitate
But those whose harts
Are married to the State.
But if they presse
To imitate his fame
Munster may blesse
The time that Villers came.*

It is noticeable that the last two figures of the date were never inserted. The person who erected the tomb must have been ignorant of the year of decease, or uncertain about it. The verses are written in running hand. They have been always admired for their terseness and point; and furnish, in fact, an epigram, as well as an epitaph. Mr. Crofton Croker ("Researches in the South of Ireland," p. 150) traces in them a strong resemblance to those written by Ben Jonson.

Page 105. 'Thomas Newcomen . . . ploadall' — Sir Thomas Newcomen, 3rd baronet, married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Charles Pleydell, Knight, but died s.p. April, 1642, when the title was inherited by his brother Robert. From the latter descended Viscount Newcomen ("Extinct Peerage"). Ibid. 'Totness' = Sir George Carew.

„ 106. 'entiable' — Meant for his usual 'enhable.'

„ 108-12. In these annals of the Boyle family it is noticeable how commonly the baptismal name of the child followed that of one of the Sponsors. In p. 112 the name of 'Robert' came from Lord Robert Digby, Lord Geasehill, the child's godfather. It was unknown in the family previously, and to our wonder, has not been kept up by them. But Robert Boyle is not "for an age, but for all time."

„ 110. 'being Removed out of the chancell' — This chancel was at the time used as a burial-place. A woodcut in Hayman's "Memorials" (p. 14) shows its desolate condition. Among other provisions in his last will, November 24th, 1642, the 'Great Earl' left the sum of £98 "towards the new building, covering and garnishing of the Chancel of the Collegiate and Parochial Chamber of Yoghall." His pious intentions were not carried into effect. But in 1854-55 the chancel was restored, at an outlay of £499 18s. Ibid. 'the chauntrye house'—This was the mansion conveyed by the Earl of Cork to Sir Laurence Parsons, and is known to-day as Sir Walter Raleigh's House—as before seen.

Page 113. 'M^r Snell'—He was the Rev. William Snell, M.A., a Fellow of Trinity College, Dublin. He was presented by the Crown to the prebendal stall of Kilrossantie, in the cathedral of Lismore, together with the precentorship of Waterford, united pro hac vice, November 10th, 1620; and in six days after he was admitted a Vicar Choral of Lismore. He died about 1641 (Cotton's Fasti, Eccl. Hist., pp. 143, 199, 207). His name recurs onward in the Diary.

„ 117. 'the antiquety of thearldome of Cork'—Edward Plantagenet, son and heir of Edmund, surnamed 'of Langley,' who was 4th son of Edward III., was, 13 Richard II. (1390), created Earl of Rutland and Cork; Duke of Albemarle, 1397; and restored to the dukedom of York in 1406. He fell at Agincourt in 1415.

„ 120. 'Bartry'—as a word = exchange of commodities. Query—a local name? or a technical word in the iron trade?

- Page 124. 'tertennants' = tenants, a clerical error, possibly—yet the word again appears on page 179. Can it be land—(terra) tenants? Ibid. 'Reek of corne' = Rick of corn.
- „ 126. 'queires' = equerries.
- „ 127. 'Tredennick'—James Tredennick was rector of St Mary Shandon, Cork, to which were united Kilgulane and Mogeely in the diocese of Cloyne.
- „ 129. 'Sir Richard Bolton'—Solicitor-General for Ireland in 1618; Attorney-General of the Court of Wards, 1622, Chief Baron of the Exchequer, 1625. Ibid. 'Mr Clearck the civillian' = one who professed the knowledge of the old Roman law (Johnson). Ibid. 'my picture'—See the very fine portrait of the 'Great Earl' engraved by Holl before title-page of vol. i.
- „ 130. 'drew my d. Saras tayler'—It is only a revival of old custom that to-day is preferring men-made dresses for ladies, as well as their riding-habits, ulsters, &c.
- „ 131. 'Tapestry hangings'—Formerly shown at Lismore Castle, but have now disappeared. Ibid. 'bed-steddle' = settle.
- „ 136. 'convented' = summoned. Ibid. 'The 26 . . . 29 my Lo. deputy the L. presidente . . . continewed at my howse'—

In Book A, page 220, of the Corporate Records of Youghal is the following entry :

„ 140. 'The storehows I lay my iron is parcell'—Among Youghal Corporate Muniments is the following lease, bearing date July 8th, 1625:—"Indenture made between the Mayor, Baylyffes, Burgeses, and Commonalty of the town of Youghal of thone part, and Richard Earl of Cork, &c., of thother part," reciting that "with his own money and att his proper cost and chardges" the said Earl had 'purchazed and obteyned' for the aforesaid Mayor, Bailiffs, &c., and their successors for ever, the ffee-farm of the Chauntry of Our Blessed Saviour, and of all the messuages, lands, tenements, gardens, orchards, backsides, pastures, meadows, closes, and other hereditaments whatsoever thereunto belonging, from Sir Gerrott Moore, knight, now Lord Baron of Mellifont and Viscount Drogheda, heir to George Morre, Esq^r, deceased, to whom the said Chauntry had been granted by lettres patent, dated 16 February, 1579-80.

“As also the ffee-simple, without rent, of the said Chauntry from Donatus, Earl of Thomond, deceased, to whom such ffee-simple had been granted by lettres patent, dated 20 June, 1605.

“In consideration of which services, as also in consideration that the said Earl ‘hath now surrendered and yielded vpp vnto vs the three severall estates and long leases of the heerafter mentioned premises wherin his lo^{pp} is interested and of them possessed under leases made by this Corpora^{ce}on,’ the Mayor, &c., demise now to the said Earl certain messuages, &c., in the town of Yoghall, extending 101 feet in length from the King’s Walk in the south to the Common Lane on the north, and 42 feet in breadth from the king’s walk on the East to The common Gownt [égout, French, sewer] of the Chauntry Lands on the west.” At xiiij^s per annum for ever.

Endorsed (among other remarks) “This is for the wast adjoyning to the Strand on the South syde the kay att xiiij^s per annum, comonly called the Earl of Cork’s Iron Store-House.” before. Ibid. 'kearn' = light foot soldier (Irish, cearn, a man).

Page 144. 'Sir Edward seymor'—Of Bury Pomeroy, Devon, Baronet, from whom the Dukes of Somerset and Marquess of Hertford descend.

„ 145. 'carrowmeer'—The old townlands or ballybetaghs in Ireland were often divided into quarters, each of which was commonly designated by the word ceathramh [carhoo or carrow], a quarter, from ceathair [cahir], i.e. four; carrow meer—qu. carrow more = great quarter? Ibid. 'Sir W^m Hulls brother in law M^r Cockeram'—Apparently 'Cork-earn' in Lord Cork's deplorable writing, but, as the following shows, meant for 'Cockeram.' Sir William Hull of Leamcon, co. Cork, was son and heir of Henry Hull of Larkbeare, Cornwall, and of Exeter, Devon. He married first Elizabeth Cockeram, whose brother is here named. He had issue (with others) a son William, who succeeded to Leamcon Manor, and who married Jane, daughter of Richard Boyle, Archbishop of Tuam, and whose son, again, Sir Richard Hull of Leamcon, married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Henry Tynte, by his wife Mabella or Mabel, daughter of Sir Percy Smyth of Ballynatray.

„ 146. 'Crook'—Thomas Crook, an English gentleman, established an English colony at Baltimore in the co. of Cork, and procured a charter of incorporation of that town from James I., by whom he was created a baronet in 1624. He died shortly after. Crookhaven, co. Cork, was called after him; and

- several of the name of Crook are found in its neighbourhood. Ibid. 'grippes' = drains. The 'grip' in Ireland is the trench next a fence, which latter is incongruously called a 'ditch.' Later (January 31st, 1624 $\frac{4}{5}$), Lord Cork returns to the holding here mentioned, and in so doing describes it as lying "without the gripp & walles of Youghall." Did he mean to write 'Dripp?' The fosse of the northern walls of Youghal was known in his time as 'the Dreep' = the Drip, or Drain.
- Page 147. 'John Lancaster' had been a Fellow of Youghal College, and when its revenue passed to the Earl of Cork he [the Earl] engaged himself to pay annually to the Warden 40 marks, and to the Fellows twenty pounds for their respective lives.

- „ 149. 'soccage'—soc, French, a ploughshare. A tenure of lands for certain inferior or husbandry services to be performed to the lord of the fee [Cowel].
- „ 151. 'Helwick head'—The great promontory to the South that forms the bay of Dungarvan, co. Waterford. Ibid. 'Rathnemeenagh'—The Fort of the mountain meadow, i.e., ancient earthworks cresting its summit.
- „ 152. parson Carew =, perhaps, Peter Carey, Prebendary of Lismore in 1624. Although the families of Carew and Carey are quite distinct, the similarity of the names causes them to be sometimes confounded.
- „ 153. M^r Leesham—Thomas Ledisham, M.A., was meant. He was a student of Oxford (ordained September 5th, 1591). He was in 1609 and for many subsequent years Vicar of Dungarvan. He was made a Prebendary of Lismore, Dec. 15th, 1609, and held that office until 16th January, 163 $\frac{2}{3}$, when he resigned in his son's favour, Thomas Ledisham J^r.

Page 153. 'the unwelcom tydings of King James his decease, and the foifull newes of the peaceable receaving and proclayming of Kinge Charles'—Earlier, on the death of Elizabeth and the accession of James, this courtly language abounded, as many contemporary 'elegiacal' books and tractates and collections of 'royal' poems remain to attest. The following is one of a good number that greeted Charles similarly—"Mirth in Mourning, or Ioyes conquest of Sorrow, gotten by a Combate betweene gratefull Ioy and wofull Griefe: occasioned by the decease of our late Sovereigne Lord King James . . . and the very happy declaration of our thrice-Royall Charles 1625." (4^o.)

„ 153. 'portes = gates, i.e., of Youghal. Ibid. 'before any notice, or Rumor coulde disturbe'—These interesting notices concerning the death of James I. and accession of Charles I., I am enabled to confirm and supplement from the local records as follows:—In Liber A, page 238, of the Corporation of Youghal, is a lengthy account of the Proclamation in that town of King Charles I.:—

"Memorandum. Upon 19 April, 1625, instantly upon the receipt from the Earle of Corke of the three Proclamations underwritten, the Mayor, William Bluett, Esq., Sir Laurence Parsons, Knight and Recorder, Sir William Fenton, Knight, one of the Council of this Province, the Aldermen, Bailiffs, Burgesses and Commonalty of the town of Yoghall, being by the drum assembled at the Market Cross, the same Proclamations were read by the Recorder; and the High and Mighty Prince Charles proclaimed King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, with all the attendance of people, joyes, and signs of dutiefull obedience, that their abilities could extend unto, as drummes, bells, and bonfires, and a hoggshead of wine drunck then at the Cross, by the people throwing up of their hatts, clapping their hands, and crying, 'God save King Charles!' and by setting the Proclamation on the Cross."

"By the Lord Deputy and Council.

"HENRY FFALKELAND. — Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God to call to His mercy our late Sovereign King James I., by whose decease the imperial crown is now vacant, and rightly comes to the High and Mighty Prince Charles, &c.

"We therefore, the Lord Deputy and Council, having a command from his Majesty to proclaim the tenour of said Proclamation, do hereby declare the Mighty prince Charles, King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, beseeching Almighty God to bless the royal Prince with long and happy years to reign over us.

"By the Lord Deputy and Council.

“ A Proclamation signifying His Majesty’s pleasure that all men being in office of government at the decease of his most dear Father, shall continue in the same till His Majesty’s further direction.

“ HENRY FFALKELAND. Forasmuch as by the decease of our Beloved Father most part of the offices within this Realm did cease, the King hath commanded the Lord Deputy, that all Persons in any place of authority within the realm of Ireland, namely, all Presidents, Lieutenants, &c., &c., shall continue in their several places, as they have hitherto held the same. And further, that all orders made by the Privy Council of the late King be obeyed by every person as in the lifetime of the said most gracious Sovereign.

„ 155. ‘ slutting mill ’ = tucking, as page 159. Ibid. ‘ back-sides ’ — This long deteriorated and vulgarized word then and onward meant simply a garden at the back or behind. It was introduced by Henry Vaughan the Silurist into one of his finest poems. Thus—

“How brave a prospect is a bright backside!
Where flow’rs and palms refresh the eye!
And days well spent like the glad East abide,
Where morning-glories cannot dye!”

„ 160. 'My howse, gardens,' &c.—Sir Edward Villiers made the College of Youghal his official residence as Lord President of Munster. His tenure of office was brief. He died at the College, September 7th, 1626. Sir Henry Wotton writes :—"He lived there in singular estimation for his justice and hospitality ; and died as much to the grief of the whole Province as ever any Governor died ; before his religious Lady [Barbara, eldest daughter of Sir John St. John, of Lidiard Tregoze, co. Wilts], who was of a sweet and noble disposition, adding much to his honour." (Letter 8 in "Remains.")

„ 161. 'Blaskeis' = Blasquet Islands, also called Blasquis or Ferriter's Islands, lying off the shore of the parish of Donquin, barony of Corkeguiney, co. Kerry, 10 miles from Dingle. See page 157, l. 18.

„ „ 'ffeleyn' = Felane. There are three townlands, Felane East, Felane Middle, and Felane West, in the parish of Killaconenagh, barony of Bear, in the West Riding of Cork. Ibid. 'O Learies Country'—A large portion of Muskery in the co. of Cork was called Uibh-Laeghaire or Ive-Leary, from its ancient proprietors. See page 10, antè.

„ „ 'Newmarckett' = the seat of Sir Richard Aldworth, situated near the town of this name, in the parish of Clonfert, co. Cork. See page 154, antè. The manor was granted by James I. to Sir Richard Aldworth on its forfeiture by the Mac Auliffes. Ibid. 'Capoquin Bridge'—This timber bridge was only taken down in the year 1850, where a handsome structure of stone now crosses the river almost at the same site. There is a faithful representation of the old bridge in Hayman's "Guide to Youghal," &c., p. 87.

Page 162. 'my lo. of Baltymore'—Sir George Calvert, of Danbywiske, in Yorkshire, was elevated to the peerage of Ireland, February 16th, 162 $\frac{4}{5}$, as Baron Baltimore, of Baltimore, co. Langford. The title became extinct with the seventh Baron, 4 September, 1771. (See "Extinct Peerage.")

„ 163. 'King of denmarcks shipmen'—On the 5th of June, 1625, "The Pearl," a royal ship of Denmark of the burden of 800 tons, and bound from the Indies with a rich lading, was seen in great distress off Youghal; and the harbour being barred, it was doubtful whether she could enter. John Griffin, a fisherman, "engaged his life when none other did" (so runs the record in the Town Book, A, p. 249), "and became the pilot, and with God's help brought her safe into this harbour." His guerdon from the Municipality was "to be free of watch and ward during his life, and to be accounted a sufficient pilot thenceforward." Simon Jansen Van Vaerdt, captain of "The Pearl," gave £100 to the Corporation for the poor of Youghal, "conditionally that if by chance any of the King of Denmark's subjects shall be hereafter here in this town in extreme poverty, that then he & they that shall be in such want shall be relieved in the Poor House of Youghal, if there shall be a place then void in the said House." As his Diary-entries show, Lord Cork advanced £700 to the captain of "The Pearl" to save him from breaking bulk and selling his goods at an undervalue ; and he received from the Danish monarch [Christian IV.] an autograph letter of thanks and a chain of gold with his Majesty's picture suspended from it. See June 26, 1620. "The Pearl" lay in the harbour for 13 months, and on leaving, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and municipal body gave a certificate in Latin of all that had happened, acknowledging the gift of £100 by them received, and covenanting to relieve for ever any Danish subject that might present himself for relief in their workhouse for the poor. The certificate is duly copied into the Town Book A, pp. 293-4. See also page 167, ll. 8-9.

Page 163, 'Corry'—Qu. Derry? (i.e. in Carbery). Ibid. 'kneeves'—as before = gneeves. The 12th part of a ploughland is called in Irish gniomh (gneeve). Ibid. 'maushae' = wet land. In Kerry wet grass land is still called 'mashes.' But 'west maushae iu Carbry' = Maunvogh, a townland of 230 acres in the parish of Cahcragh, West Carbery, West Riding of co. Cork. Ibid. 'Vncautie'—This odd-sounding name looks rather like 'en-centre' = Exestre, a corruption of Exeter, which was a family name in co. Cork, and was borne by settlers from Devonshire. But cf. page 185, l. 7 :

- Ibid.* 'Knocknestekey' = Knocknastooka, a townland in Desertserges parish, co. of Cork. Ibid. 'Kiltobreduller'—Unintelligible in this form. Kilmoylerane is a townland also in Desertserges parish, and is perhaps the locality referred to.
- Page 164. 'Lishnequynny' = Lisnacunna, in the parish of Desertserges, co. Cork. Ibid. 'Lisnetatan'—Qy. Kilmoylerane, in same parish? 'Lo : Aungier'—Sir Francis Aungier, Master of the Rolls, 1609; created Baron Aungier, of Langford, 29 June, 1621. His title is extinct. Ibid. 'Sir Edward Harris'—Third Justice of the King's Bench, Ireland, by patent, 27 October, 1623, Chief Justice of Munster. He died in April, 1636, and was buried in Kilcredan Church, where is his fine mural Tomb.
- „ 165. 'Clyduff, als Culyduff [and] Russelagh'—These are situated respectively in the parishes of Carrigtohill and Kilquane, co. Cork. The three townlands, Ballingarry East, Middle, and West, are in the parish of Ballyfeard, barony of Kinalea, co. Cork. Jointly they contain over one thousand acres, and form the 'Manor' here alluded to. Ibid. 'Coolfada' = a townland in the parish of Kilbrogan, adjacent to Bandon.
- „ 166. 'lied of a childe' = denied the paternity? might read 'died of a chille.'

This castle, of which ruins remain, was situated in the parish of Ballynoe, co. Cork, about seven miles from Tallagh.

„ 169. 'thearle of Middlesex'—Lionel Cranfield, Lord Treasurer of England, was created Earl of Middlesex, 16 September, 1622. Ibid. 'Sir Barnaby Brian'—Knighted by James I., 21 July, 1615; succeeded his brother Henry as 6th Earl of Thomond. Ibid. 'Sir John Battie'—Not traced; perhaps 'Sir,' the usual clerical title. Ibid. 'Spayn'—In "Liber A," pp. 283-285, of Youghal Corporation, appears a "Proclamation to declare that all ships carrying corn or other food, or any munitions of war to or for the King of Spain, or any of his subjects, shall be esteemed a lawful prize." Dated at Hampton Court, 31 December, 1625. Hostilities with France and Spain were at this time imminent. Smith ("History of Cork," vol. ii., p. 107), writes:—

"During his [Sir Edward Villiers'] government, the French and Spaniards gave out that, in revenge for the expedition to Rochelle, they would make a descent in Ireland. The forts of Cork and Waterford having been quite neglected, the Earl of Cork lent £500 to the Lord President Villiers, with which these forts were made defensible. When Lord Wimbleton arrived at Kinsale with the King's forces, Lord Cork took ten companies of foot, many of them being weak and wounded, and lodged and dieted them near[ly] three months upon his tenants. He supplied the General with £500, and entertained him and all his officers nobly at Lismore."

- „ 172. 'Ribbe Davie'—See note on page 138. Ibid. 'Sir Archibald Dowglass'—'Capⁿ Leak'—'Capⁿ pelham'—Most of these names, and others on page 173, will be found in above work.
- „ 173. 'Maydes' = singers, &c., on May-day?

Page 174. 'Rathronam'—See page 214. Ibid. 'provinciall sytting' = the sitting of the Council of the Province of Munster. The Council-Book of Munster is in the British Museum (Harleian MSS. 697), and is entitled "The Councill Booke for the Province of Mounster, conteyning all the Actes, Records, and Entries of that Provinciall State from the xx daie of August 1601 forwards." This important historical MS. ought to be printed.

- „ 175. 'okill' (bis) = Oge Kill, near Camphire, the same local name as Youghal (Irish, eo-chaille, i.e., yew wood), but not to be confounded with that place. Ibid. 'chaplen M^r price'—Bartholomew Price, a Prebendary of Cashel in 1624, and of Lismore, 29 January, 1629-30. Ibid. 'xxxth ster de claro per annum' = clear of all charges? Ibid. 'Turrets . . . Tarras'—In Lismore Castle (as already noted) is a ground-plan of the place as at this date. The special correspondent of the "Times," lately travelling in Ireland, wrote from Lismore (September 15th, 1885):—"Undoubtedly the lower fabric of King John's Tower and probably that of the Bloody Tower as well, are parts of the original stronghold. Then there is the square detached double [query, donjon?] keep, going by the name of the Riding School, which is evidently ancient. For names cling here to the localities in the grounds as well as to the buildings. There are still 'the wood by y^e grove' with old oaks shooting up from the older stumps and the tangled 'wilderness,' and the 'bowling-green,' all as set down on a map of 300 years ago, which is very primitive and queerly out of proportion in the drawing." Ibid. 'thearle of Clanricarde'—Richard de Burgh, fourth Earl of Clanricarde. He died in 1621. Ibid. 'Tarras' = terrace. There is an early ground-plan of the Castle of Lismore of this date, showing these several portions.

- Page 176. 'Lande soldiers'—See note on page 167. Ibid. 'Shandon Abbey'—The 'bells' of this famous abbey ring musically in the well-known song which takes its name from them, and elsewhere. Ibid. 'Sir Archebald dowglass' = Douglas. It is in accord with the records of this Fleet in Glanville's Journal to find this knight borrowing £5.
- „ 177. 'neat' = net. Ibid. 'quicksets' = hedges. Ibid. 'Richard Bowrck of Derrym^c-Laghuye esq^r & M^{rs} Katheryne Barrie his wife'—The Burkes of Derrymacloghny, in Galway County, were a junior branch of the Clanrickard family. Ibid. 'thearle of Arundell'—Henry Frederick Howard, Earl of Arundel, born in 1608, died 7 April, 1652, from whom the Dukes of Norfolk. Ibid. 'Sir Roger o Shaghnes'—Of Tober-ien-dony, co. Galway. He had licence to hold a market there every Tuesday, a fair day 8 September, to continue two days, and a Court of Pie-poudre. [Patent Rolls, 20 February, 1626-27.] Ibid. 'M^r John Glanville' &c.—See note on page 167.
- „ 178. 'Sleught Teag o Mahowns in carbry called dromreogh' &c.—Teig O'Mahony was feudal lord of Carbery, in West Cork; and these townlands retain their designations. Ibid. 'Edward Boyle'—Son of Dr. John Boyle, Bishop of Cork. Ibid. 'Leeftenant Games'—Not traced.

Page 179. 'tertennants'—This word appears earlier (in page 124), where I note it as possibly a clerical error. Can it be intended for 'ter[m]tenants' holding for a fixed period only?

„ 180. 'Ballygomeshie'—In Waterford County, not far from Lismore. Ibid. 'cattley' = cattle. Query, a local name? Ibid. 'Bally M^o pheris'—In Kerry.

„ 181. 'Capten He : frodsham'—He was of Elton, Cheshire, fourth son of Edmund Frodsham, of Elton, and of Margaret Bunbury his wife. Ibid. 'coshmoar & coshbride' = baronies in the county of Waterford, near Tallagh. Ibid. 'deferlrable'—Qu. = deliverable, as on p. 197, l. 5 from bottom? Ibid. 'Belvilly'—On p. 183 'Bolvilley'—on p. 185 'Boakvilley' = Belvelly, a townland in the parish of Clonmel, not far from Queenstown, co. Cork. Ibid. 'Sir Nichas Salter'—An Englishman settled in co. Cork. This family name is rather common in the West Riding of Cork, but the present representatives are poor farmers.

„ 182. 'mawmrell' (?)—Unintelligible. Ibid. 'new bridge over the broad water at ffermoye.'—Thomas Dineley, in the journal of his visit to Ireland, regno Car. II., gives a drawing of this bridge, which appears to have had six arches of stone at one end, and a single arch at the other, with a timber-drawbridge between them. The bridge of Fermoy has been twice rebuilt since the Earl of Cork's time. Ibid. 'Sir charles M^c carthy'—Eldest son of Donogh, first Earl of Clancarty, and father of Charles, second Earl. He lost his life in a sea-fight with the Dutch, 3 June, 1665.

- „ 185. 'Breghnagh' = a townland in the parish of Desertserges, barony of East Carbry, and county of Cork. Ibid. 'Liscolane'—Liscullen (hodie) is a townland in the parish of Shandrum, barony of Orrery and Kilmore, and county of Cork.
- „ 186. 'my sister power' = Elizabeth, wife of Pierce Power, and sister of Mary, wife of Sir Richard Smyth of Ballynutray. Both sisters lie buried in Lord Cork's vault at Youghal, and their names occur in the epitaph on the great mausoleum. Ibid. 'Sir Geffray Galwaie'—Governor of Limerick, executed by Ireton at the reduction of that city, 27 Oct., 1651. Along with him suffered the titular Bishop of Emly, the Irish General Purcell, Alderman Thomas Stritch, and several others. Ibid. 'lands in the Lytteagh'—In co. Kerry. Ibid. 'Ballynvelly' = Belvilly, Bolvilly, or Boalvilly, as in pages 181, 183, and 185.
- „ 187. 'Sir John davies'—The poet of 'Nosce Teipsium,' as before. Ibid. 'the blackwater'—The same river as the 'broadwater' on p. 182, and not the Awniduff of the 'Faerie Queene' (b. iv., c. xi., st. 41). This latter river is in Ulster, and is memorable for the defeat of the English army, August 10th, 1598, by the Earl of Tyrone.

Page 188. ‘beetle kernels’—Beetle = mallet, a word much used in Youghal. Like the French blanchisseuses, the poor women go to the water-side, lay soiled linen on a large flat stone, and beat it with a heavy wooden maul, called a ‘beetle.’ This, however, leaves ‘kernels’ unexplained. Ibid. ‘Ralackan’—In co. Mayo, but untraced. Ibid. ‘Sir Thomas Crook’—He settled a colony of English Protestants at Baltimore, in the county of Cork, and procured a charter of incorporation from James I., who created him a Baronet. He died circa 1624. Many respectable families of the name live in the neighbourhood of Baltimore.

„ 189. ‘Richard’ [Villiers]—He must have died unmarried, and perhaps in childhood, as the Peerages take no notice of him. Ibid. ‘at that xtening’—I ought sooner to have noted Lord Cork’s frequent use of ‘christening.’ On the first blush it would seem as though he himself had acted, and not a clergyman. He uses it as = naming of a child as a sponsor. It is noticeable that the Church of England in her ritual appoints that this nomination shall be made, not by the parents of children, but by the sponsors. In the Baptismal Service is this Rubric—“Then the Priest shall take the Child into his hands, and shall say to the God-fathers and Godmothers, ‘Name this Child.’” In the Catechism the opening question is, “What is your name?” and the second, “Who gave you this name?" Answer—"My Godfathers and Godmothers, in my baptism," &c. Ibid. 'The maior of yoghill,' &c.—See note on page 163; also in the entry following, pp. 189-90.

- Page 190. 'Somin John vannart' = Simon Janson Van Veardt, captain of "The Pearl." Ibid. 'Morris . . . a passport'—Passports were then rigidly enforced even in going from place to place in Ireland. They were called 'passes.' Ibid. 'Sir Richard Smyth'—see p. 195, last line.
- „ 191. 'thearle of castlehaven'—Mervyn Touchet, 2nd Earl of Castlehaven. Suffered death on Tower Hill, May 14, 1631. Ibid. 'priory of Roscarbry'—Ross, or Ross Carbery, is a small Episcopal city in West Cork. The see is held in conjunction with that of Cork and Cloyne.
- „ 192. 'Sir Edmond Verney'—Commanded a regiment of horse, and being Deputy Governor of Drogheda, was killed 11 September, 1649, at the taking of that town by Cromwell.
- „ 193. 'John Villiers'—He became, on the death of his elder brother (August, 1643), 3rd Earl Grandison, but dying s. p. he was succeeded by his next brother, George. Ibid. 'a peec' = "A pound sterling, or twenty shillings." (Bailey.) But see also p. 194, last line. Ibid. 'colme' = culm, inferior coal. Scotice, 'coom' = soot.
- „ 194. 'Boakvilly' = Belvelly, or the Great Island, co. Cork, where are the ruins of the castle of the Hodnetts. Ibid. 'water-measure' = charges.

chapple = the South Transept of St. Mary's Church, which he had re-edified. Here was a chantry founded by Richard Bennet and his wife, Ellis Barry. Ibid. 'duties' = dues. Ibid. 'Sir darby o quynlan preest'—The 'Sir' = dominus, i.e., our reverend, as before. Ibid. 'Sir John ffitz Edmond gerald'—Of Cloyne, of a branch of the great Geraldine stock. Ibid. 'my brother in Law Sir Richard Smyth'—This gentleman was of a Yorkshire family, anciently of Myreshaw, in the parish of Bradford, and afterwards (and now) of Heath Hall, in the said county. He came to Ireland a captain in Queen Elizabeth's army, and is mentioned in "Pacata Hibernia" as taking part, in 1601, in the memorable siege of Kinsale. Along with Captain Yorke he headed the storming party to whom the Spaniards surrendered the strong fortress called Castel-ny-Parke. He married Mary, daughter of Roger Boyle, of Preston, and sister of Richard, first Earl of Cork, by whom

1. Percy (Sir) his heir.
2. Katherine, married, 24 April, 1622, to William Supple, of Aghadoe, ancestor of Sir Arthur de Capell Burke, Bart.
3. Dorothy, married to Arthur Freke, ancestor of Lord Carbery.
4. Alice, married first to William Wiseman, of Bandon; and, secondly, to Bernard Roche, of Ballyhendon.

Sir Richard Smyth was buried in the Earl of Cork's vault at Youghal; right of sepulture in which has, for many generations, devolved exclusively on his representatives.

- „ 197. 'Rathdroughtes in Carbry'=Rathdrought—a townland in the parish of Ballinadee, in the barony of Carbery East—contains 1242 acres. Ibid. Captain John Mason, aboard the ship Reformation, in Kinsale harbour, wrote to Secretary Nicholas, 15 September, 1626, that Captain Harris was going to Youghal “to take in Lady Villiers for England” [S. P. O., Calendar, 162 $\frac{1}{2}$, page 427, Domestic Series, Charles I.].
- „ 198. 'Shane'=Sidbean, in Irish pronounced “Sheeawn,” i.e., a fairy mount. There are places all over Ireland bearing this name, as being reputed Elvish haunts. This was probably Shean, a small townland near Lismore, containing about 75 acres. Ibid. 'Sir J^a Bland'=Of Derriquin Castle, co. Kerry. His son was the Venerable James Bland, Archdeacon of Limerick. The family is still seated at Derriquin. (See Burke's “Landed Gentry.”)
- „ 199. 'Keep dry the chancell and colledg howse of yoghall'=Keep the roofing of these buildings water-tight. This is an interesting entry as showing (what is not admitted in contemporaneous chronicles) that the Chancel of St. Mary's Church was not unroofed during the Desmond rebellion. It is implied that the covering was the ancient one. Ibid. 'cleycastle'=A small townland in Youghal parish, containing 61 acres. There is here a remarkable sand-hill, of late years much wasted by the invasion of the sea, but on the summit of which, when in its unbroken condition, probably stood an Irish dun or fort, that gave the locality its designation. Ibid. ‘Curreglass’—(Curragh-glas in Irish, i.e., the green marsh) is a village in the parish of Mogeely, barony of Kinnattalloon, co. Cork, about two miles west of Tallagh.

Page 200. ‘Sir’=dominus, i.e., reverend. Ibid. ‘Sir peers crosby’—A military officer of distinction, of the Privy Council, Ireland; a witness unfavourable to the Earl of Strafford at his trial. He died s. p. in 1646. His uncle, John Crosbie, Bishop of Ard-fert, was ancestor of the EARLS OF GLANDORE (“Extinct Peerage”). Ibid. ‘Alexander Traverse’—Does not occur in the Travers family [vide Craik] nor has the relationship to Lord Cork been traced.

„ 201. ‘Bally m'-skanlan’—In Kerry, page 210. Ibid. ‘Sir Morris gryffen’—Rather “Griffith.” Sir Maurice Griffith, along with Sir Charles Coote, Sir Frederick Hamilton, Captain Edward Povey, Captain George St. George, Captain John St. Barbe, and Lieutenant Henry Crofton, received, 28 June, 1627, a Royal Commission to examine and try by martial law all misdemeanours, outrages, and other offences, committed by the ‘new supply’ of fifty foot, under command of Lord Grandison, with powers of life or death. Ibid. ‘Sir Roger Jones’=ancestor of Lords Ranelagh.

Mayo. (Burke's "Landed Gentry.")
- „ 203. 'My lo chancellor'—viz., Sir Adam Loftus, Viscount Ely, as before. By the Privy Signet of 12 May, 1627, the Lord Chancellor Loftus was ordered to repair to the Court in England without delay, to attend the King's further pleasure and direction, and to deliver the Great Seal to the Lord Deputy Falkland, who was to grant the custody thereof to any four of the Privy Council, and to any two or more of them resident in or near Dublin, as he should think fit. And, by another Commission, to appoint the Master of the Rolls, one of the second Justices of each Bench, the second Baron of the Exchequer, and all the Masters of the Chancery in ordinary—any three or more of them—to hear and determine causes in Chancery, with an order for enrolling two Commissions sent over as precedents, which follow upon the Roll. Accordingly, the Primate, &c., were appointed Commissioners of the Seal, and Francis, Lord Aungier, of Longford, Master of the Rolls, Sir Christopher Sibthorpe and John Philpot Justices of the Benches, Sir Lawrence Parsons Baron of the Exchequer, Henry Mainwaring and Thomas Carey, Masters in Chancery, Commissioners to hear causes, 30 May, 1627. 3 Caroli I. prima pars facie R. 13, 15. The cause for which the King commanded his Lordship's repair into England, requiring a clear examination and a judicious solemn hearing, was for some time retarded by other weighty affairs of State, until the King, attended with his Privy Council, took a full hearing at several times of those informations, objections, and charges that were laid against him, both concerning his supposed undutiful behaviour towards his Majesty in the business of raising money for his service in Ireland, and his miscarriage in the execution of the great place and charge he held for distributing justice and executing the office of Chancellor. The first his Majesty thought fit to have examined in Ireland, to clear some varying allegations that were made on both sides, and for that purpose directed his commission to some persons of quality and trust; and to all the rest his Lordship having made so full and direct answer as cleared his innocency, and justified his proceedings to the satisfaction of the King and his Council in all the parts of the charges that were urged against him, his Majesty sent him to resume his office, and directed the Lord Deputy presently upon his arrival to cause the Great Seal to be delivered to him, and that he be fully restored to the free execution of his office of Chancellor. Southwicke, 1 August, 1628. (4 Caroli I. 2 pars dorso, R. 39.)

Page 210. "my sister the Lady Barroness of offaly" = Lettice, only daughter of Gerald, Lord Offalley, eldest son of Gerald, 11th Earl of Kildare. Lady Digby was created by James I. Baroness of Offaley for her life. Ibid. 'thearle of Bristole'—Sir John Digby, younger brother of Sir Robert Digby, ancestor of the Lords Digby, having filled high places in the Court of James I., and having been twice Ambassador to the Court of Spain, was elevated to the peerage, 25 Nov., 1618, as Baron Digby of Sherborne, co. Dorset. He was further created

Earl of Bristol by letters patent, 15 Sept., 1622. He died in 1652. Ibid. 'owt grounds of . . . Kingshurst'—Evidently one of Lord Digby's manors, probably in Dorsetshire. Ibid. 'Ballym'skanlan'—In Kerry. Vide page 201. 'Trym & Moyare'—And see page 221.

Page 211. 'Corck gate, and ffrances his gate'—These Bars appear in a "Map of the Town of Bandon Bridge for my Lo. Carew," preserved among the MSS. of Trinity College, Dublin. "Corke gate" was the great gate of the Western Walls of the town. "South-gate," writes Bennett, in his "History of Bandon," page 67, "was named Francis-gate, in addition, in compliment to Francis, Lord Shannon, sixth son of the Earl of Cork." Ibid. 'Tracton'—Two miles south of Carrigaline, in the barony of Kinalea, are the ruins of the abbey of Tracton (De Albo tractu), founded by M^cCarthy, in 1214, and by him dedicated to the Virgin Mary. The first monks were introduced from the Cistercian Abbey of Alba Terra, or Whiteland, in Carmarthenshire; and they gave to their new home the title of White Tract in consequence. The Earl of Cork demised the dissolved abbey to Thomas Daunt, of Owlpen, in Gloucestershire, whose descendants yet occupy it. (See "Landed Gentry," DAUNT OF TRACTON ABBEY.) Ibid. 'my musicons'—See Introduction. Many families of nobility and gentry in Ireland yet have 'musicians' among their retainers. Ibid. 'my cosen Russell'—Lodovic Boyle of Bilney married Elizabeth, daughter of William Russell of Hereford, and had (with two sons) Eleanor, who was married to Watkin Russell.

- „ 213. ‘Reek’ = ricks, or Scotice ‘stooks.’ Ibid. ‘new howse . . . a markett howse’—Whatever were the Earl of Cork’s purposes about Fermoy, evidenced by his erection of a bridge across the Blackwater, and the founding of a market, they were unsuccessful in developing the resources of the town. Fermoy remained an inconsiderable village until the year 1812, when large barracks were erected by the Government; and a large flourishing town arose, through the exertions of its then proprietor, Sir James Anderson.
- „ 214. ‘Raronan, Mortelstown & Kilgraunt’—Ra[th]ronan (as in previous line), &c., are parishes in the barony of Iffa and Offa, and county of Tipperary. Ibid. ‘watercourse and Bay’ = diversions of the river as it flows beneath Lismore Castle. Ibid. ‘a new castle’—Ballyduff is within five miles of Fermoy, and on the banks of the Blackwater. Vide page 212. Ibid. ‘plott’ = plan.
- „ 215. ‘Ballycrynnan’ = Ballycrenan, near Castle Martyr, probably from its fine castle, once the property of the Carews, and in the seventeenth century the residence of Sir Robert Tynte. Near the castle is the church of Kilcredan, founded by him in 1636, and the place of his sepulchre, and of his wife, Spenser's "Elizabeth." Ibid. 'Ballykenely' = Ballykinealy, a townland in the parish of Kilmacdonogh, near Youghal. Ibid. 'Sir Richard Morrison'—Appointed, 4 June, 1625, Receiver of the Composition Rents in the province of Munster, to hold for life, and also placed on the Privy Council of Ireland.

Page 216. 'Awmore' = great river, the opposite of Awbeg (Spenser's Mulla) = little river. This is the same river as the Broadwater, hodie Blackwater, flowing by Lismore, and falling into the sea at Youghal.

„ 217. 'Ballysaggard'—Near Lismore, still so called. Lately the estate of the Usshers, and now the residence of Mr. Woodroffe. Ibid. 'Kilwynny, Kilmoor, and Ballyclement'—Qu. in county of Kerry? Ibid. 'interpreter'—Such a functionary even now is constantly required at the assizes in the different county towns of Ireland. Ibid. 'Richard Seckerston'—See Introduction in vol. i. Ibid. 'parsonadges of Killogh and Keitermurrough' = Killeagh and Igthermurrough, within a few miles to the west of Youghal, and forming part of the endowments of Youghal College.

„ 218. 'tenement over the gate'—In the arrangement of the times, gates were always in castles, with apartments over them for the gate-keepers. The Pursuivant-at-Arms was Mr. Leveret. He is mentioned in vol. iii., pp. 9, 31, &c. Ibid. 'cozen Stockdall'—And pp. 219, 222. Ibid. 'Hamper'=Hanaper, the Court of Exchequer.

- „ 225. 'Sir Richard Everard'—He had large estates near Fethard, county of Tipperary, as well as in Cork and Limerick. He had license, 13th February, 1629, to alienate certain lands in Cork and Limerick to Sir William Fenton. (Patent Roll, Charles I., 5, part 6, membrane 21.) Ibid. 'Edmond Malone'—He was of Ballymahown, Westmeath; married, in 1617, Mary, daughter of Garrett Byrne, and had a son Edmund, whose second son, Anthony Malone, of Barontown, was great-grandfather of the Shakespearian commentator. The descent is given in Burke's "Landed Gentry" (article, MALONE OF BARONTOWN). Ibid. 'pacquids'—Query 'packets'?
- „ 226. 'Sir John Clotworthie'—Son and heir of Sir Hugh Clotworthy, of Knockfergus, co. Antrim, knighted by King James in 1618. (See Visitation of Devon, A.D. 1620.) Ibid. 'castle town of . . . Aghmarten' = Aghamarta, a townland in the parish of Templebrady, co. Cork, containing 378 acres.
- „ 227. 'cullony, parcell of Lisfynneen'—Near Tallagh, county of Waterford.
- „ 228. 'dyned at the Sovereigns' = An inn.
- „ 228. 'fforte of Haleboling'—Haulbowline, in Cork harbour, facing Queenstown, is now a depôt for naval and military stores. It was so called from a chain or 'bowline' that was drawn from Whitepoint across the channel to this islet, and fastened to the bow of a war vessel. The 'bowline' was 'hailed up' at night to prevent shipping passing the narrow channel in the dark. Ibid. 'Tully Imurreghie' = Tullymurrihy, a townland in the parish of Desertserges, and county of Cork.

Page 229. 'Kynardteer'—Query, in Kerry? Ibid. 'Kilbeg'—Little Wood. There are so many localities so called, that, except from the context, we cannot identify them. Ibid. 'Justice Gosnold'—Not an Irish judge. Query, on the English bench, or a Justice of the Peace? Ibid. 'chantrie howse & garden'—Described as "adioyning vnto the church yard" to distinguish it from Sir Lawrence Parsons' holding, long removed.

„ 230. 'Kilbarry' = Barry's Wood. Many places are so called: here in Fanlobbus parish. Ibid. 'Ballynehawe' = Ballynahow, near Glanworth, county of Cork. Ibid. 'Ballynecloghy' . . . 'Kilmagner'—Ballynecloghy = Ballyclough, near Mallow. There are two Kilmagners in Cork county, one in the parish of Castle Lyons, near Fermoy, and the other in the parish of Youghal. Ibid. 'wellhouse' = the well.

„ 231. 'Shangarry'—Near Cloyne.

„ 232. 'Blacknoll's Suits with the Earl of Cork'—In the Patent Rolls, 2^o Caroli I., secunda pars, dorso membrane 12; 3^o Car. I., tertia pars, &c., 26, and 4° Car. I., ibid. 28, will be found various important documents, and 'patents' of this great suit. It would take too much space to exhibit them. Those curious in such things can readily consult them. Ibid. 'Castle of Dinglecuish'—Dingle, county of Kerry.

Page 233. 'Sir Symon Weston of Lytchfeld'—He is mentioned in Patent Roll, 2° Caroli I., part 3, dorso, membrane 37, in connection with lands of Grange Gorman, co. Dublin. The Westons of Lichfield were a scion of the Weston family of Rugeley, Staffordshire; and they again were cadets of the house of Weston-under-Lyzard in the same shire. (See Burke's "General Armoury," p. 1095.) Ibid. 'the Craggan'—Creggan (Carrigane, Irish = a small rocky place) is the name of an abbey in Ibawn, near Timoleague, county of Cork (Archdall's "Monasticon Hibernicum"). Ibid. 'Sir Henry Holcroft.'—Some notice of the family is in "Notes and Queries," 4th Series, vol. vi., p. 472.

„ 233, 234, 242. 'Skyddies castle in Cork'—The Skiddy or Scudamore family ranked high among the burghers of the city of Cork, and this castle was their mansion. It stood on the western side of the North Main Street, having been erected by John Skiddy, A.D. 1445. About the middle of the eighteenth century it was used as a powder magazine; but in 1770, on a memorial to Government of the neighbouring inhabitants, it ceased to be appropriated, and in 1785 it was demolished. Ibid.

'Bishop of Kerry' = Bishop of Ardferf (cf. p. 245). He was John Steere, M.A., an Englishman, who was translated from Kilfenora to Ardferf, 8th December, 1621. He died in May, 1628. Ibid. 'Ulick' = 'Alexander'? Ibid. 'balasters' = balustrades. Ibid. 'Theodexa' [Theodore?] Atkinson, parson of Ballynecourty & Kynard, and the vickaridg of Mynard'—These places are in Kerry. Page 235. 'plaied at Mawe'—"Pale-maille," writes Cotgrave, "is a game wherein a round box ball is struck with a mallet through a high arch of iron, which he that can do at the fewest blows, or at the number agreed upon, wins." Strutt, in "Sports and Pastimes of the People of England," pp. 103, 104, describes this amusement. Ibid. 'St ffrances Abbey at the Northend of corke'—Dermot McCarthy Reagh founded this friary A.D. 1214. He died 1219, and his son Fineen continued the work. This building, which stood on the south side of the city, is now entirely demolished (Archdall's "Monasticon Hibernicum"). Ibid. 'Agharran'—Agharrin is a townland in the parish of Aghabulloge, county of Cork. Ibid. 'Ballyvrbane' = Ballyorban, is a townland in the parish of Carrigaline, county of Cork. Page 236. 'Coolyooda' = Coolfadda, a townland in Kilbrogan parish, near Bandon. Ibid. '*Mr. Bartholomew price . . . Drumcairn, N.B., fourth son of Sir Andrew Murray, of Balvaird (see "Peerage," EARL OF MANSFIELD). Page 237. 'spitall', = hospital at Anye. Any, or Knock Any, is a small village twelve miles south-east of Limerick, where a Preceptory of Knights of St. John was founded, regno Henry II. See page 97. Ibid. 'L. Bowrck of Castleconnell'—Edmund Bourke, fifth Baron Bourke of Castle Connell, co. Limerick, sat in parliament in 1634. He died in the year following, æt. forty-seven. Ibid. 'lease parroll'—"A lease by word of mouth" (Bailey). Ibid. 'the spital', = Hospital, four miles from Bruff, in the co. of Limerick. Ibid. 'Curreyglas'—A village near Tallagh, county of Waterford. Ibid. 'my other church' = His chapel, the south transept of St. Mary's church, Youghal, in which he had erected his grand mausoleum. The Katts family came from Holland. Stephen Katts, or Catts, glazier, was in 1675 engaged to "glaize and paint the windows of the Collegiate or Parish Church of Youghal for seven years at xxx^s per annum." (Corporate Book C., p. 80.) They were diamond lead-lights.

Page 238. 'key lane in yoghall.'—This thoroughfare, leading to the water-side, is still so called.

„ 240. 'the present sovereign of Tallagh'—Stephen Jerome dedicates his book, "Io-pean" to "Henry Wright" a "sovereign of Tallagh" in 1623. Ibid. 'To give them a bedd'—The covenant respecting the reserved right of the lessor to a bed in the demised premises is worthy of notice. It was the usage of the times. In 1607, 6th Sept., David Tirri, son and heir of Edmund Tirri, of the city of Cork, alderman, then lately deceased, "in consideration of a certain sum of money of good and legal coin of currency in England," gave, enfeoffed, &c., to Richard Donovan, precentor of Lismore diocese, two messuages and tenements appertaining to the same, within the town of Youghull (sic), in co. Cork; and at the close of the demised conveyance he inserted the following reservation:—"And so often as I, the aforesaid David, or my heirs, shall come, or any of us, shall come in the course of travelling to the said Town, that then I shall have or my heirs shall have one decent Bed in any chamber of the aforesaid tenements or messuages to sleep in by night, at the choice of the aforesaid David or his heirs." The change of manners from the reign of James I. to that of Victoria is herein strikingly illustrated. Hotel accommodation in our own day is so ready and pleasant, that we smile at the simple arrangements of our forefathers. Yet traces of gone-by usages, in the once universal custom of "going into lodgings" subsisted until of late years. Twenty years ago this economy was followed by the landed gentry, and it had its own advantages. It brought about kindly intercourse between different grades of society, and knit together the different members of the community. The Judges of the land, when on circuit, conform to this time-honoured custom, and retain their 'lodgings' as well as their antique robes and wig.

His son and successor in the title was Sir Thomas Salisbury, the poet. Ibid. 'Knockmoon' = Knockmoan. See on p. 255. Ibid. 'Keppagh & the Kayntie' = Cappagh and Canty (hodie) are situated in the parish of Whitechurch, county of Waterford, and are seats of the Ussher family. Ibid. 'Earle of Londonderry'—Sir Robert Ridgeway, second Earl of Londonderry, married Elizabeth, daughter and heir of Sir Simon Weston, of Lichfield. Ibid. 'L. Bicshop of Ardfert'—William Steere, appointed in 1628 (Cotton's "Fasti," vol. i., pp. 439, 440). Ibid. 'Lady Una Boyle, my cozen Sir george Boyles widdoe.'—Sir George Boyle was fourth son of Michael Boyle, merchant, of London. Among his brothers were Richard Boyle, Archbishop of Tuam, and Michael Boyle, Bishop of Waterford.
- „ 248. 'Rathjordan'—Query, Rathgoggan (Charleville, hodie)? Ibid. 'chaplen Giles Baden'—Prebendary of Cloyne, 1626; and in 1627 Dean of Ardfert.
- „ 249. 'Butler'—This was Thomas Butler, second Baron of Cahir. He left an only daughter and heir, Margaret, who married Edmund, third Lord Dun-boyne. Ibid. 'Almayn' = German. Ibid. 'portingall'—Baltazar Portingall was one of the three Mayor's Serjeants. James Coppinger was Mayor of Youghal. Henry Lord Falkland was Lord Deputy of Ireland.

Page 250. 'Duches of Buckingham' = Lady Katherine Manners, only daughter and heir of Francis, sixth Duke of Rutland.

- „ 251. 'The Rochello' = vessel from Rochelle. So in page 264, 'dunckerker' and 'Biskaner', vessels from Dunkirk and Biscay. Ibid. 'to paie my Lo Duke'—The profligate sale of titles at this period is here illustrated. Vide also page 171.
- „ 255. 'yoghall . . . the barrony'—These are still current phrases, and are equivalent locally to "town and country." The barony of Imokilly environs the town of Youghal; and the way to it, skirting the great strand, is called by townspeople "The Barony Road," but by the peasantry, in their vernacular, "Boher-as-Eochaille," the road out of Youghal, corrupted into "Bore-suckle," in the Corporate Records, 17th Oct., 1620. Ibid. 'Knockmoan' is the name of a castle in the parish of Whitechurch and county of Waterford. This castle was held by Sir Richard Osborne during the rebellion of 1641; and it was taken in April, 1645, by the Earl of Castlehaven, who soon after made himself master of the castles of Dromana and Cappoquin, whence he marched to Lismore, where he was repulsed. Ibid. 'Sleivgryn' (in Irish Sliabh Va g-Cruinn, i.e., the mountain of Igrine, from a local sept of that name) is a hilly district between Ardmore and Clashmore, in the county of Waterford.

Page 257. 'River of the Bryde'—Still so called; it flows into the Blackwater, near the new Castle of Strancally. There is another river, also called the Bride, which falls into the Lee. Both were named after an Irish female Saint, Brigid. Ibid. 'Capoquyn' = Cappoquin, a considerable town, about three miles from Lismore.

„ 259. 'laste will and testament'—Such were the dangers, not only of the ocean, but of capture by privateers, that the custom of preparing one's will was universal at this period. Indeed, until the introduction of steam, the practice continued in use with persons passing from Ireland to England.

„ 260. 'Ballymodane'—Is one of the parishes of Bandon. Kilbrogan is the other.

„ 262. 'dunckerker' . . . 'Biskaner'—Vide "Rocheller." Ibid. 'Mynyott' and 'Mynnyott' = Minehead. Evidently the Earl of Cork wrote phonetically the names of places and persons. In Somerset dialect this place is "Minyard" ("Notes and Queries," 1st Series, vol. v., pp. 534, 535).

„ 263. 'Alunesbery' = Salisbury. Ibid. 'Sherborn'—This had been the estate of Sir Walter Raleigh.

„ 264. 'Archye, his Ma^{ty}s fester'—See Introduction in vol. i.

„ 266. 'Strongcally' (in Irish 'Sron-Caillighe,' the hag's nose, or promontory: mem. The Nez)—Is the name of a remarkable cliff jutting out in the river

Blackwater, and on which are the ruins of a large fortress, once a Geraldine stronghold.

Page 267. 'MEERS'—Sir Walter Raleigh demised to Captain Maryes, 31 Elizabeth, the castle, town, and land of Stroncallie (Calendar of Patent and Close Rolls, Ireland, pp. 37, 38; 1 Jacobi i., pars tertia).

„ 269. 'Ausham' = Agmondesham.

„ 270. 'my grevances against the L. chauncellor of Ireland'—He was Adam, Viscount Loftus of Ely, as before.

„ 272. 'Nonesuche'—See a description of this Palace in "Notes and Queries," 1st Series, vol. iii., pp. 236, 237, and 4th Series, vol. ix., pp. 138, 208. It was in the neighbourhood of Cheam and Ewell in Surrey. Of the origin of the name, Leland writes :—

"Hanc quia non habent similem, laudare Britanni Sæpe solent, nullique parem cognomine dicunt."

„ 276. 'Renlett' = Rundlett, q. d. Roundlet, a cask for liquors, from three to twenty gallons (Bailey).
'vsebagh' = usquebaugh (in Irish uisge beatha, water of life), or whiskey.

„ 278. 'my medecinable stoar' = family medicine chest.
Ibid. 'Great Flood'—23 September, 1628. Sir William St. Leger, Lord President, wrote to the Mayor of Youghal, from Mallow :—

"Mr Maior,—The late vn-resistable waters hath taken from vs o^r bridge at Moyallo, w^{ch} must be for the suddaine supplied by boate, of w^{ch} we

Page 280. ‘M^r W^m Noye’—This learned jurist was born at St. Burian, Cornwall, and graduated at Exeter College, Oxford. He was Attorney-General of King Charles I., and is credited with having originated the enforced supplies of ‘Ship-money.’ He died in 1634. See also page 289.

„ 281. ‘Tottenham’—Barnabas Tottenham, alias Hancock, was of Shepreth, Cambridgeshire. He settled at Ballyduffe, near Lismore, where he married, in 1630, Mrs. Martha Harman, but d. s. p. in 1632. By his last will (dated 15 July, and proved 6 August, 1632) he left a legacy of £5 to the poor of the parish of Shepreth, “that being the place of my birth”; also to “my kinsman, John Tottenham,” who was of Barrington, Cambridgeshire, and from whom the Tottenham families of Woodstock and of Tottenham Green, co. Wexford, are descended (Burke’s “Landed Gentry;” article, “Tottenham of Woodstock”). Ibid. ‘Lady Varney’—Qu. ‘Verney’? See ‘Sir Edmond Varnye,’ p. 288, l. 13.

„ 282. ‘Stewarde’—Ensign Steward is frequently mentioned in the Corporate Records of Youghal in the years 1627 and 1628. He had a King’s letter, 20 December, 1627, authorizing his erecting a fort at Youghal for the protection of the harbour from pirates. But the project fell through. It was revived in 1632, and a good Block House was built in 1633. Ibid. 'Sir John wynter'—Second son of John Winter, of Derham, co. Gloucester, and of Mary, daughter of Sir William Bruncker, co. Wilts.

Page 283. 'Monument'—Lodge, in his "Peerage of Ireland," vol. i., p. 164, gives the inscription on this monument, so far as the Earl of Cork's son is concerned.¹ It runs thus:—

- Page 286. 'Parliament'—King Charles I., having received from the Recusants the offer of a voluntary contribution of £120,000 to be paid in three years, by three subsidies of £40,000 each, covenanted to grant them the graces they solicited, and to send in conformity his royal pleasure to the Irish parliament which was to be convened, 3 November, 1628, for this purpose. Lord Falkland, the Deputy, issued the necessary writs, but neglected to obtain the Royal licence, under the Great Seal of England, as a preliminary, whether acting under instructions, or unintentionally, we cannot tell. Whereupon the summons was declared by the English Privy Council to be null and void; and the King, with characteristic insincerity, reaped the pecuniary advantages of his concessions, and held himself free from giving them force. Ibid. 'thabbey of Killeigh'—"Killeigh, a small village four miles from Youghal, in the barony of Imokilly. 'W^m Noye'—A renowned lawyer, whose name is still quick. Ibid. 'Ballingarry'—A considerable town in county of Limerick. Ibid. 'Lo. Digby and his Lady'—Sir John Digby, raised to the Peerage, 25 Nov., 1618. He married Beatrice, daughter of Charles Walcot. Ibid. 'Mr. Barloe the mynister.'—He is again mentioned in p. 316, where we have his baptismal name, "Richard," and his parish, Kilgraunt, in the county of Tipperary, about six miles E.N.E. from the shire town, Clonmel.

„ 290. 'Sir Lewies dives'—This gentleman was of an ancient family of Northants, now extinct. An heiress carried the estates into the family of Downes, with whom the patronymic was in consequence used as a baptismal designation. Dive Downes, D.D., was Bishop of Cork in 1699. His grandson, William Downes, was Chief Justice of the King's Bench, Ireland, in 1803, and was elevated to the peerage as Baron Downes, 10 Dec., 1822. The title became extinct in 1864. Ibid. 'gardeviance' = garde-de-vin. Ibid. 'John evelyn, chapleyn' (as before). Ibid. 'Lo. of Canterbury'—(Dr. Abbot). 'A Ronlett of usquebagh bettered'—Qy., strengthened?

- „ 298. 'lively' = life-like. Ibid. 'Lady dockwrae'—She was Anne, daughter of Francis Vaughan of Sutton-upon-Derent. Sir Henry Dockwra, her husband, was created BARON DOCKWRA, of Culmore, co. Derry, by patent dated at Westminster, 15 May, 1621. The title expired with his son Theodore, in 1631. (Burke's "Extinct Peerage," p. 173.)
- „ 299. 'lo. of Rannalagh . . . and Killeen'—RANELAGH (as before). KILLEEN—Lucas Plunket, tenth Baron Killeen, created Earl of Fingall, 26 Sept., 1628. Ibid. 'Ballylangienner Bariescourt' = Ballylongane, a Townland in Kilmahon parish, co. Cork. Barryscourt, in Carrigtohill parish, co. Cork. 'lo. of Bedford'—Francis Russell, fourth Earl of Bedford, succeeded to the title 3 May, 1627; died of smallpox, 9 May, 1641. "scrivener" = parchment maker (cf. vol. i.)?
- „ 300. 'Sir charles Coot'—Created a Baronet, 2 April, 1621. His son Charles was raised to the Peerage, 6

Sept., 1660, as Earl of Mountrath. The title became extinct in 1827.

- Page 301. 'Tobias Burmes'—Singular Christian name = Tobias.

- „ 305. 'L. B^e of clogher' = James Spottiswood, D.D., as below. Ibid. 'John Ashburnham'—A Groom of the Bedchamber of Charles I., and M.P. for Hastings. Ancestor of Earl of Ashburnham. 'Lord Bishop of Clogher'—He was James Spottiswood, D.D., a native of Scotland, brother of John Spottiswood, Archbishop of St. Andrews; and was advanced to this see by patent dated 22nd October, 1621. On the death of Archbishop Hamilton, of St. Andrews, in 1629, the King would have promoted Spottiswood to that archbishopric, and a letter of Privy Seal, dated April 20th, was issued for that purpose; but it appears that the Bishop of Clogher declined the advancement. He wrote a treatise entitled "St. Patrick's Purgatory;" also "The Execution of Neshech," &c. (being a discourse upon usury), 4to., Edinburgh, 1616; and "A Briefe Memorial of his own Life and Death" [except the last four pages], and of the troubles he fell into in Ireland, &c. This was published from a Manuscript in the Auchinleck Library, by Sir A. Boswell, 4to. Edinburgh, 1811. He died at Westminster in March, 1644-5. Ibid. "yrish greyhounds"—This noble species, the Canis graius Hibernicus, is believed to be extinct. When wolves abounded in the isle, as they did even within the last century and a half, these hounds were carefully bred and much esteemed ; but with the extinction of their foes, the wolves, they ceased to be propagated. Their size was gigantic. Buffon (quoted by Scrope in his "Art of Deer Stalking," p. 342), describes one he had seen in France, "which appeared, when sitting, to be about five feet high, and resembled the Danish dog, but greatly exceeded him in stature. He was totally white, and of a mild and peaceable disposition."

Symmachus, a writer of the fourth century, informs us that seven Irish hounds (Septem Scotii Canes) were exhibited in the circus at Rome, having been sent from Ireland in iron cages. He also describes the admiration which they excited on account of their size and strength. The Irish wolf-dog was a very distinct race from the Scottish wolf-dog, which resembled the Irish hound in stature and equalled it in courage, but differed from it by having a sharper muzzle and pendant ears.

Smith, in his "History of Waterford," p. 343, states that, among the Earl of Cork's manuscripts he had met with the following original letter from the Lord Deputy Falkland, dated Chichester House, August 23, 1623:—

"My Lord,

"I have lately received letters from my Lord Duke of Buckingham and other my noble friends, who have entreated me to send some grey hounds and bitches out of this kingdom, of the largest sort; which I perceive they intend to present unto divers princes and other noble persons. I am given to understand that there are good store in your country, and therefore I pray you, either by yourself, friends, or neighbours, to procure me one brace, either of good dogs or bitches, and them to send unto me with all the speed you may. And, if you can possibly let them be white, which is the colour most in request, herein you shall do me a favour, which I shall be ready to requite.

"And so, expecting your answer by this bearer, I commit you to the protection of the Almighty, and rest

"Your Lordship's

"Very assured friend

Robert Carr, K.B.; Viscount Rochester, 25 March, 1611; Earl of Somerset, 3 Nov., 1613—King James's favourite courtier. Ibid. 'Sir fardinando George' = Gorges? third son of Sir Edward Gorges, of Wraxhall, and of his second wife, Mary, daughter of Sir Anthony Poyntz, of Iron Acton, Gloucester ("Extinct Peerage:" article GORGES).

Page 332. 'Sir donnell o Brien' = Sir Daniel O'Brien, third son of Connor O'Brien, third Earl of Thomond, and of his wife UNA, daughter of Tirlough O'Brien, of Ara, co. Tipperary. He was created, 11 July, 1662, VISCOUNT O'BRIEN, of Clare (Burke's "Extinct Peerage"). Ibid. 'Smerwick'—This harbour, in the co. of Kerry, has important associations of Queen Elizabeth's reign in Ireland. Here was the Fort del Or, erected in 1579 by Saunders, the pope's nuncio, and next year stormed by the English forces under the Lord Deputy, with Captains Zouch and Raleigh, when the whole garrison was put to the sword. (Vide Spenser's "View of the State of Ireland," Edwards' "Life of Raleigh," vol. i. pp. 40, 41, our Memorial-Introduction to Spenser (vol. i. in Works, 10 vols.).

„ 333. 'Sir W^m uscher'—Sir William Ussher was Clerk of the Council, by King's letter, 10 July, and by patent, 4 August, 1630. He married Isabel, daughter of Lord Chancellor Loftus, Archbishop of Dublin (see USSHER of EASTWELL, "Landed Gentry"). Ibid. 'tales' = measures. Ibid. 'ſ' greatrakes'—He was a member of a Derbyshire family, whose history is copiously illustrated by Prebendary Hayman in "The Reliquary," edited by Llewellyn Jewitt, F.S.A., vol. iv. pp. 81-96, 220-236; and vol. v. pp. 94-104. He is mentioned in Harleian MSS., No. 2218, p. 58, as son to William Greatrakes of Ephane [Affane], Esquire, and as bearing for Arms, "Per pale sable and gules 3 Leopards' heads erased or, half-faced." He married Mary, daughter of . . . Nelson, Gent., and had a daughter Magdalene, who married Roger Gwyn, of Cork, son (by his wife, Margaret, daughter of Sir Thomas Stafford, Knt., of whom often in this Diary) of John Gwyn, of Welshpool, co. Montgomery. Ibid. 'bond of 12000^{li}'—These loans evidence the desperate state of the royal finances.

- Page 335. 'Lord carleton' = Sir Dudley Carleton, Baron Carleton, 21 May, 1626; Viscount Carleton, 25 July, 1628 ("Extinct Peerage"). Ibid. 'prevent' = anticipate. Ibid. 'Sir John Cook' = Coke, of Holkham, co. Norfolk (see "Peerage," EARL OF LEICESTER). Ibid. 'my present of golde'—Everything was venal in the Courts of the Stuarts.
- „ 336. 'Dutchess of Lennox' = Katherine, only daughter and heir of Sir Gervase Clifton, and wife of Esme Stuart, third Duke of Lennox, K.G.
- „ 337. 'telling howse' = counting house. Ibid. 'pompew calandrino'—Evidently a foreigner. Ibid. 'Sir ffrances willoghby'—Fifth Lord Willoughby (see WILLOUGHBY OF PARHAM, "Extinct Peerage").

Page 339. 'Countess of Leycesters' = The Lady Dorothy Percy, daughter of Henry, ninth Earl of Northumberland, and wife of Sir Robert Sydney, second Earl of Leicester. Ibid. 'Abbei[e] conway' = Castle Conway—a noble ruin to-day. Ibid. 'Bowmarr[is]' = Beaumaris.

„ 340. 'dawpool'—At Chester. Ibid. 'Rings end'—A village near Dublin, where, in the 17th century, travellers mostly disembarked. The name is supposed to be derived from the Irish, Rinn-Aun—the point of the tide. Ibid. 'Sailing ship'—A valuable entry, illustrative of the uncertainties of passage between England and Ireland, when sailing vessels only were employed.
